BEGGING RADIO STATION IS PUT UPON PROBATION

Order Against KFWF, St. Louis Truth Center, for Failure to Account for Contributions.

$45,000 IN MORTGAGES
HAVE BEEN CLEARED

Head of Religious Corporation Declines to Comment on Action of Federal Commission.

The Rev. Charles H. Hartmann, one of the three members of St. Louis Truth Center, Inc., 4030 Lindell boulevard, declined to comment today on the findings of the Federal Radio Commission, reducing the Truth Center radio station from 250 to 100 watts in power, and questioning the motives of the Truth Center corporation in soliciting money over the radio.

"The commission has been in extra doubt in this case," said the report, "as to whether to refuse to renew the applicant's license at all or to allow it to continue with reduced power and under a warning that it is to be regarded as being on probation. After careful consideration the commission has decided on the latter course."

The report states that although the Truth Center, Inc., purports to be a religious corporation, there are no members, these being the Rev. Charles H. Hartmann, the Rev. Emil Clifford Hartmann, his wife, and their sister. Money was repeatedly asked for over the radio but no report of the funds received, said the report, could be given by the Rev. Charles Hartmann when he was interrogated in Washington.

Cleared $45,000 Mortgages. Contributions received during the past few years, however, have been sufficient to pay off approximately $45,000 in mortgages on valuable property, which would go to the three Hartmanns if the religious corporation were dissolved, said the report.

"No record," the report stated, "is kept of the money that is given. The witness (Charles H. Hartmann) was unable to say how much he had drawn out of the corporation in the last year. He admitted that the money received was largely put into charitable work, but was unable to give any definite information on this point."

"There is of course no objection to proper appeals by radio for worthy purposes, but the commission is entirely satisfied that what has been done in the case of this station. The solicitation of contributions for purely private and selfish purposes is hardly a use of a radio station which can be found to be in the public interest, convenience, or necessity."

Furthermore, the solicitation of funds for one purpose and the use of them for another, cannot be considered to meet the test of the law," the report said. The commission desires to be convinced "by the entire conduct of this station, that it is being run for purposes other than selfish ones."

Complaints From Listeners. There have been many complaints from radio listeners, that KFWF, the Truth Center station, is centrally located, drowned out other stations near its wave length, on Sunday mornings and evenings, and also on nights during the week. There were reports that the Rev. Charles H. Hartmann, who organized the station, had been attacked in no addresses from the Truth Center, said the Rev. Charles Hartmann, who the Rev. Charles Hartmann practices daily healing in the new auditorium they have built at the site of the large house they occupy at 4030 Lindell boulevard.

In refusing to comment on the charges of the radio commission, the Rev. Charles H. Hartmann said: "Why should I waste time in doing anything here in St. Louis, to go down to Washington, D. C., and track the whip there?"

The reduction of the power of station KFWF will reduce its broadcasting range and make it more difficult for the drowning out of other stations.

RUMOR THAT AMUNDSEN PLANE WRECK IS FOUND

Place Given Not That to Which Ocean Currents Normally Would Have Carried It, Expert Says.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen says that the Oslo Aftenposten has received a message from Harstad reporting a rumor of the finding of wreckage in North Norway supposed to have come from the Latham plane in which Roald Amundsen disappeared last June. The advice said that there was a disposition to receive the report with caution until further investigation could be made.

The report from Harstad said that the wreckage was supposed to have been found off the Lofoten Islands. Telephonic inquiries from Oslo qualified first reports that the wreckage of the plane actually had been found.

The chief of the Norwegian Charting Department says the gulf stream flows in an opposite direction from that in which the wreckage would normally have been carried to the spot indicated. He added, however, that extraordinary conditions had prevailed this year.

(Capt. Parker of the steamer Homic reported Aug. 6 that the Gulf Stream had reversed its course between longitude 40 and 50 west.

Capt. Metcalf of the Majestic made a similar report. Capt. McNeill of the Mauritania, however, reported that the course had not changed.) An Oslo dispatch to the Associated Press says: "Inquiries late today fail to substantiate rumors of the finding of wreckage of the Latham plane in which Roald Amundsen and five companions disappeared in June."

Advices from Oslo this afternoon quoted the Norwegian Admiralty as saying that the relief expedition aboard the sealer Hobby had been experiencing heavy gales and high seas during the last few days in its search for the Amundsen party.

After exploring Queen Victoria Island without any trace of the Amundsen group or the still missing men of the Italia, the Hobby proceeded to Franz Joseph Land. Ice formed over the superstructure and covered the two airplanes carried on deck, putting them temporarily out of action. The Hobby later proceeded toward Alexandra Land and followed the coast to the extremity of the land which was passed yesterday.

Amundsen and his party disappeared in June while flying across the Arctic region to join the forces at King's Bay, Spitzbergen, searching for Gen. Nobil and his men of the Italian polar dirigible.

MISSING AVIATORS FOUND DEAD NEAR SMASHED PLANE

Bodies of M. M. Merrill and Edwin Ronne, Located in Dense Woods Near Pond Eddy, Pa.

WERE FLYING CRAFT
OF COL. LINDBERGH

Flyers Sought Since Monday on Buffalo-to-New York Trip—Machine Hit Top of Tree.

By the Associated Press.

POND EDDY, Pa., Aug. 30.—The bodies of the two aviators, M. M. Merrill and Edwin Ronne, lost on a flight from Buffalo to New York, were found at dawn today in the wilderness near this little town by five residents of Milford.

The body of one of the men was in the wreckage. The other body was found in the brush 15 feet ahead, where it had been hurled when the Curtiss Falcon plane crashed.

There was no fire, the rescuers said. The plane was smashed to pieces. Before it crashed the plane, owned by Col. Charles Lindbergh, tore the top from a tall pine tree, 400 yards from where it plunged nose down into the ground.

The motor and fuselage of the plane were buried in a hole five feet deep and 20 feet wide. When it hit, the plane broke in half, the wreckage of the rear half was found a hundred yards ahead of the motor. In this was one of the bodies.

The wreck was found a half mile off the abandoned Pond Eddy road. The bodies will be carried out to the road by the rescuers and taken in a wagon to Milford, where an inquest will be held.

Clothes Tied Off One Body. The bodies were not badly mangled, rescuers said, although the clothes had been torn off the body thrown clear of the wreckage. Even the shoes were gone.

The wreckage was strewn over a distance of 300 yards. The scene is located in the heart of an uninhabited wilderness of scrub oak and pine trees, rarely visited even by hunters.

"Casey" Jones, chief Curtiss flying service pilot, who sighted the plane yesterday, with another pilot recruited from the surrounding country, arrived on the scene a few minutes after the bodies had been found.

The wreck was sighted by flyers yesterday but there was no place for a plane to make a landing near the spot, so some of the searchers flew to Milford while others made their way to Port Jervis, N. Y., where foot pads within 20 miles of the crash site.

Ronne's body will be sent to Buffalo, where he was manager of the municipal airport, and Merrill's will be sent to New York by train.

FEARS HER CHILD WAS A VICTIM OF WOMAN POISONER

Mrs. Eva Ramsey Asks Sheriff to Question Mrs. Gifford About Death of Mary Brinley, 7.

CONFESSED SLAYER
OF 3 WAS NURSE

Exhuming of Bodies to Prove Presence of Poison Considered by Franklin County Officers.

Mrs. Eva Ramsey, 1718 Gross avenue, East St. Louis, has written Sheriff Arthur Gorg at Union, Mo., asking him to question Mrs. Bertha Gifford, confessed poisoner, about the death of Mrs. Ramsey's 7-year-old daughter, Mary Elizabeth Brinley, on May 18, 1925.

The child died after being nursed by Mrs. Gifford, Mrs. Ramsey said in her letter, in the home of Mrs. Josephine Brinley, the child's grandmother. Mrs. Ramsey's first husband, and the father of Mary Elizabeth, was Caswell Brinley, a cousin of "Ed" Brinley, 48-year-old Catawissa farmer who staggered into the two-story "house of mystery" at Catawissa, Mo., when drunk and died the night of May 16, 1927, in acute pain, after Mrs. Gifford, as she admits, had given him arsenic mixed with a medicine a doctor had prescribed.

Mrs. Gifford, now in Franklin County jail at Union, has confessed poisoning "Ed" Brinley, and two sons of a hired man, George Schamel. The circumstances surrounding the sudden deaths of persons she attended when they were ill were under investigation before Mrs. Ramsey reported a tenth case for inquiry.

Mother's Story. Mrs. Ramsey said her daughter was disabled by a spinal affection. In the spring of 1925, she said, the child was operated on at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis. The operation appeared to be successful and Mary Elizabeth, when convalescent, was taken to her grandmother's home near Catawissa, adjoining the farm the Giffords leased at that time.

"I didn't get up to the farm until the day before the baby died," Mrs. Ramsey said today to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "When I arrived, I learned that Mrs. Gifford had been sitting up day and night with Mary Elizabeth. The night before her death my sister saw Mrs. Gifford bending over the baby's bed. She had a little medicine box in her hand. When my sister spoke to her she put that box back in her apron pocket in a hurry. My baby died the next day."

Child Feared Mrs. Gifford. Mary Elizabeth was always afraid of Mrs. Gifford. When she was looking after the baby, Mrs. Gifford would come to the table for a meal and never speak a word. She'd swallow a few mouthfuls of food and then hurry right back to the baby's bed. It looked like she couldn't take her eyes off the sick baby. My sister told me to get the baby away from her and I thought of taking the child somewhere else. But the next day the baby died.

"I wrote to Sheriff Gorg to help in the investigation in any way I could," Mrs. Ramsey said. "I treated almost everybody who got sick up there around Catawissa, and usually handed them their medicine."

Mrs. Ramsey said she did not see the child's death certificate. Dr. W. H. Hemphre of Catawissa had been in attendance on the child several times, but was not called before the death, she said. The body was not embalmed and was taken to St. Louis County for burial in Bethel Cemetery.

Caswell Brinley, father of Mary Elizabeth, was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Catawissa after his daughter's death. He was carried into the home of Mrs. Josephine Brinley, and remained there a day, when he was removed to a hospital at Webster, where he died three days later. Mrs. Gifford rode over to the Brinley home on horseback the night Caswell Brinley was injured and gave by his bedside, as she did customarily if anyone, within a radius of 15 or 20 miles, was hurt or sick.

COUNT CAUGHT WITH STOLEN RINGS AT DEAUVILLE

Arrest Follows Series of Hotel Thefts in Which Americans Were Victims.

Copyright, 1928, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (the New York World and Post-Dispatch)

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Following a series of jewel robberies in hotels at Deauville, in which many American women were the victims, Count de Marchi, with a strong Italian accent, approached various jewelers and in an embarrassed manner explained he had been unlucky at cards and wanted to sell his rings. The jewelers did not question him. But police kept getting reports of hotel thefts. Miss Kitty de Witt and Mrs. Frank Wilcox of New York and Miss Ruth Faddington of Chicago were among those robbed.

Police watched the hotel servants and saw Pierre Revoire steal some rings and carry them to Count de Marchi in another part of the city. They let the Count try to sell the jewelry in his usual manner and then nabbed him.

MISSOURI BANK CASHIER KIDNAPED, BUILDING BURNED

All Records of Wilmathesville Depository Reported Destroyed in Fire That Follows Explosion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 30.—The Bank of Wilmathesville, 18 miles northeast of Kirksville, was robbed last night and the entire building, occupied by the bank and a general store owned by Leslie Shaw, was burned to the ground.

Preceding this a man entered the bank about 3:45 p. m. and forced Lloyd Thompson, cashier, at the point of a revolver to accompany him, according to Thompson. He placed Thompson in a closed automobile and took him to some timber half a mile from town where they were joined by another man and they went deep into the woods.

Thompson was gagged, his hands wired and then he was stunned by a blow on the head. Thompson was not missed from home because he had stated at noon that he would not be home until late.

About 11 p. m. the neighborhood was awakened by an explosion, which started a fire that burned the building.

Thompson had the bank books on the desk and the vault door was left open when he was forced to leave so that it is probable that the bank records were destroyed.

Thompson became conscious about midnight and found his way to the farm house of Rine Phelps, who took him to Wilmathesville.

REPROACH TO LEAGUE AS COUNCIL CONVENES

Congress for Protection of Rights Complains Body Fails to Protect Minority Peoples.

MANY AMERICANS
AT OPENING SESSION

Canadian Premier Present

First Time—Costa Rica's Request to Define Monroe Doctrine Ignored.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Aug. 30.—Today's opening session of the Fifty-first Council of the League of Nations was marked by receipt of a resolution from the Congress for the Protection of Minority Rights condemning the Council for its "failure" to do something to alleviate the lot of the minority peoples of Europe. The resolution reached members of the Council just as they separated after their opening session.

Today's resolution declared that the League, in its early history, had achieved something, but that of late nothing has been done for the minority peoples, whose problems affect the peace of the world. It concluded with the statement that the confidence of the delegates of 35,000,000 minority peoples in Europe in the Council and the League has been shaken.

The warmth of welcome extended to Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, first Canadian Prime Minister ever to attend a Council session, was one of the features of the opening day. All the members of the Council extended cordial greetings to King.

Another feature was the appearance for the first time of a representative of the new Chinese Nationalist Government. In accepting Wang King-ki, Chinese Minister at Brussels, as the Chinese member of the Council, the League gave official recognition to the new Chinese regime.

The three leading figures in previous councils were missing: Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, if taking a long voyage for his health; Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the German Foreign Minister, was advised by his physicians not to risk his health by further strain such as would be entailed by a Council meeting; and Foreign Minister Briand of France will not be in Geneva until Monday when the League Assembly opens.

Many Spectators Present. The corridors of the council building were crowded with spectators, many of them Americans. The league secretariat was unable to satisfy the big demand for tickets despite the increased number of places available through enlargement of the council's glass room.

Declaring that war has now been outlawed, and that force has now been replaced by justice due to the Kellogg-Briand pact, the Congress for the Protection of the Rights of Minority Peoples sent a message to Secretary of State Kellogg stating that 25,000,000 European members of 12 nations in 17 states are fighting for their nationality and for civic and economic equality and for the realization of the League of Nations.

"Oppression and violence to our rights is one of the greatest dangers to peace," the message said. "We request you to use your influence with the signatories of the pact to secure the realization of our rights, thus crowning your work by adding the outlawing of oppression and violence to the outlawing of war."

Women on Cinema Body. Premier Mackenzie King sat between Dr. Aguerro of Cuba and Beelers van Bokkeld, Foreign Minister of the Netherlands. Wang, the Chinese delegate, sat next to Minehiro Adachi, the Japanese delegate.

Women will have a place on the governing body of the educational cinema institute which Italy will found in Rome in accordance with a resolution of the council which also provides for linking the institute with the league.

Albert Thomas, director of the international labor bureau, addressing the council, requested that the bureau be given an effective voice in the institute as the shaping of matters affecting workers possessed supreme importance. Scialoja of Italy said that it would not be possible for an official of the labor bureau to be a member.

Nominee Calls in New York Leaders for Conferences to Discuss Situation in That State.

Radio expenses in campaign are becoming heavier with each campaign, but it is stated officially that the budget for this will be held down within low limits. Each time that Hoover makes a prepared address arrangements will be made for an extensive hooking of stations, and the principal party speakers also will use the radio in carrying their addresses within a comparatively small circle.

Hoover's friends assert that the necessity is well pleased with the situation generally. As he has found it more and more comfortable and he holds that not within a few years has the party been so united as during the present campaign.

Danish Beauty Comes to America

MISS EDITH JORGENSON.

ADJUDGED the most beautiful woman in Denmark, she has arrived in New York to go on the American stage.

MARY GARRETT HAY, SUFFRAGE LEADER, DIES

Served as Chairman of the Republican Women's National Executive Committee.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Miss Mary Garrett Hay, 71 years old, a leader in the woman suffrage movement in the United States and a former chairman of the Republican Women's National Executive Committee, died last night at her hotel in New Rochelle.

Miss Hay, who was born in Charlestown, Ind., was an organizer of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. From 1910 to 1912 she served as president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs and headed the New York Equal Suffrage League from 1910 to 1913. She was chairman of the Republican Women's National Executive Committee in 1919 and in 1920 and of the League of Women Voters of New York City from 1918 to 1923.

Miss Hay was living at New Rochelle with Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. A few hours before her death last evening she was preparing for a small party to celebrate her birthday, which came yesterday. She was stricken in the afternoon and remained unconscious until her death. Death was due to cardiac trouble.

also declared that he and his aids planned immediately to call in expert medical advice to determine whether the bodies of the two Schamel children, and of Ed Brinley, should be exhumed for examination.

No direct evidence has been produced that the vital organs of the two Schamel boys, and of Ed Brinley, contained arsenic in fatal quantities. The death certificates of the three attributed death to gastritis. They were made out by Dr. W. H. Hemper of Catawissa, who now admits that all three deaths were suspicious and should have been followed by post-mortems.

"We are giving our attention to the possibility of exhuming those bodies," prosecuting Attorney Jenny said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "We appreciate the important bearing that the addition of evidence of arsenic in the vital organs of the Schamel boys and of Brinley might have."

"Thus far also, I have had only a brief conference with Dr. Hemper, who has indicated a willingness to co-operate with us in every way. Unquestionably medical testimony will play an important part in the State's case."

"There is a certain amount of talk about other deaths popularly attributed to Mrs. Gifford, but for the present we are giving our attention to the two cases for which she was indicted, and which, with one other killing she has confessed. It will take us a long time to build our case. There is a great amount of detail to be seen to, before the trial opens the third Monday in November."

Prosecutor Jenny also has under consideration investigation of the bootlegging activities. In 1926, on the farm rented by the Gifford, for which Gene Gifford, the poisoner's husband, was convicted and fined $500 in April, 1927, about three weeks before Ed Brinley died in the Gifford home.

DR. BULLARD AGAIN IN ROW OVER CHILD

Second Divorced Wife Seeks to Regain Custody of Their Daughter.

Dr. Oscar R. Bullard, 3829 Westminster place, and his second divorced wife, Mrs. Regina Loiseau Bullard, are at odds again, this time over custody of their 15-year-old daughter, Bernice.

Under a decree granted her in 1926 Mrs. Bullard was awarded custody of the child. A month ago while they were living in Chicago the daughter left her and returned here to live with the father, who has married for the third time. The second wife followed and yesterday had a policeman sent to the physician's home to get the girl. Dr. Bullard slammed a door in the policeman's face, but later reconsidered and surrendered the child under protest. He says he will ask the Juvenile Court to give him custody of the child. Meanwhile the girl is at the House of Detention. The second Mrs. Bullard is living at 4157 McPherson avenue.

Bullard was arrested here in 1927 with Regina Loiseau, then 15. He was sentenced to the workhouse. His first wife divorced him, and he married Miss Loiseau. He escaped from the workhouse. Police forgot about the escape, but the second wife reminded them in 1929 when she caused Bullard's arrest for nonpayment of alimony. On his promise to pay, he was paroled from the remainder of the workhouse sentence, but a few months later he was sent back to the workhouse to finish the sentence, for violation of the parole.

FOUR MEN NAVIGATE YAMPA CANYON RAPIDS IN COLORADO

First Successful Exploration Made of Old Rendezvous of Western Train Robbers.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Col., Aug. 30.—Navigation of the upper part of the Yampa river canyon in Western Colorado, once rendezvous of train robbers and criminals of the old West, has been accomplished by four men who reached the Frye Baker ranch, 80 miles from Craig, Colo., after a four-day journey through the perilous Yampa gorge.

Word of the successful exploration came from Craig yesterday through A. G. Birch, member of the party, who had climbed a 4000 foot mountain from the canyon and walked 15 miles to the Baker ranch.

Huge rocks in the Yampa river rapids upset one of the expedition's boats and all food supplies were lost. The party was without food for four days.

Yampa canyon is 80 miles long, with sheer walls 2500 to 4000 feet high. In 1925 the Colorado State Historical Museum sent an expedition into the canyon in search of cliff dwellings. Only faint evidence of these were found, but the explorers did not venture far into the gorge.

THREE LOST WHEN BOAT SINKS

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—Three persons were drowned and 20 others were rescued when the towboat Alliquippa of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation capsized in the Ohio River early today.

The bodies of all three victims were taken from the sunken hull of the craft by divers. All of them were found in cabins where they were trapped as the boat suddenly overturned. One of them was a woman, engaged as a chambermaid.

Gifford, brought about a situation in which the Giffords had something to conceal, it was pointed out. Brinley, noted for his garrulous when intoxicated, may have "talked out of turn" or may have figured, in some unwitting fashion, in the Government raid on the farm. At any rate, this possibility is being investigated by the State in its search for a motive for the murder.

The two Schamel boys, it is suggested, may have stumbled on the still.

If the State fails to establish a motive for the murders, they must be attributed to Mrs. Gifford's morbid pre-occupation with sickness and death. Mrs. Gifford in her confession, as has been told, declared that she gave arsenic to the two Schamel boys and to Ed Brinley, "for their pains."

She added also that she had taken arsenic herself for high blood pressure, that it relieved her, and that she thought it might relieve the three persons who died.

IN U.S. 19 YEARS, SAVED FROM BEING DEPORTED

Woman, Who Made One Slip, Won't Be Sent Back to Finland.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Olga Aulen, 22 years old, of West New York, N. J., is home again within her mother, stepfather and sister, after eight months in the Bedford Hills Reformatory for girls and two months on Ellis Island, where she had been held for deportation to Finland as an undesirable alien. Yesterday her attorney, with an order obtained Monday from Federal Judge Coleman, went down to Ellis Island, telling her she was free once more to enter the land where she had lived ever since she was three years old, and that she would not be sent to Finland, where she has neither friends nor relatives and where she does not understand the language.

Miss Aulen came to this country with her mother and stepfather 19 years ago from Finland. She attended public school in Brooklyn and then went to work. Her stepfather did not become naturalized until after she was 21, so she did not automatically become a citizen herself.

June, 1927, a friend invited her to his apartment to arrange for a party. She went. An officer from the vice squad, who later said he had been watching the house, followed her in and arrested her as a wayward person. Her lawyer asked her to plead guilty, and she did. Magistrate Jean Norris sentenced her to a year in the reformatory. Judge Renard later changed the sentence to six months probation, which she violated by failing to report after resentencing remarks of the probation officer.

taken before Magistrate Silberman, who sentenced her to another year at Bedford. She was released last June after serving 15 months, then the immigration authorities seized her for deportation.

But Judge Coleman held that one lapse does not make a woman bad and that whatever her character, America had made her what she was.

Old Museum of Anatomy, Broadway Landmark, Gone

On Same Site 45 Years—Dr Lee, Its Owner, .84, Hopes to Reopen It in Another Building.

Dr. Elbert J. Lee's Museum of Anatomy, at 11 South Broadway, is about to join the Olympic Theater. Dr. Lee, 84, the old Southern Hotel and the other features of a past generation which stood in the shadow of the Old Southside at Broadway and Market street.

The window displays and the signs are gone. The dusty halls and the dusty grand staircase, once lined with impressive wax models of American Generals, Indian warriors and fair ladies now echo to the tramp of the feet of moving men. Under the sagging roof and the broken skylight, stands the figure of Dr. Lee tenderly supervising the removal of his 3000 or more glass-cased relics.

Time and the irresistible operation of condemnation ordinances, have forced the old museum from the site it has occupied for 45 years. Dr. Lee fought as long as he dared, but this week, with a dispossessed suit pending in court and the danger of seeing his beloved figures sent shamelessly into the street, he was forced to vacate. The exhibits are going temporarily into storage and Dr. Lee is speculating on the cost of having them cleaned and put into a number-one show. He is hoping within a week or two, to reopen his museum in the old Temple Building, once St. Louis' finest office building, at Walnut street and Broadway.

But in an office building, no matter how old, the Museum of Anatomy will never be what it was when Broadway was a real Broadway and the young blades from the cafes and the theaters and the gambling houses stopped before the sign: "For Men Only, 25 cents; admission free; pay as you leave; no one under 16 admitted."

Established in 1874, Dr. Lee, who is 84 years old, bought the place 16 years ago, after he had retired from a rural practice in southern Missouri and had become bored with idleness.

STOPS A JACKHANDLE IN LUNCH ROOM FIGHT

Attorney, Bystander, Hit on Head in Manager's Row With Check Dodgers.

Leland Wind, an attorney of 5335 Delmar boulevard, who served overseas as a Major with the 340th Field Artillery during the World War, dropped into the Dew Drop Inn, 4964 Delmar boulevard, at 1 o'clock this morning and unexpectedly ran into a skirmish.

Maj. Wind had a bowl of chili and a glass of buttermilk and was paying his check when someone swung a jack handle against his head, inflicting a two-inch scalp wound. Maj. Wind went home, but other customers and restaurant employees engaged in a general melee and a window was broken and the policeman on the beat came running up.

It developed that Earl Ten Eyck, who has a police record, and two of his friends had dropped in for food and toothpicks and were facing past the cashier's desk when the manager insisted they pay their check for $1.50. This started a fight, and Ten Eyck is alleged to have wielded the jack handle.

Patrolman Ivis Johnson was taking Ten Eyck to a patrol box when Ten Eyck declared he was the better man and threatened to take the policeman "for a ride," so the officer reported. Patrolman Johnson subdued Ten Eyck, fracturing his left arm and skull, and took him to City Hospital, where he is held prisoner, charged with peace disturbance.

Finds Tobacco for "Breaking In" a Pipe

Columbus, Ohio
March 10, 1927

Two years ago my wife gave me an expensive pipe. I smoked it a great deal for two or three weeks, put it aside, then began smoking it again. This time it was very strong. Veterans told me that it had been smoked too hard for a new pipe and should be put away. The pipe was laid away again. A short time ago I got it out and smoked one of the common brands of tobacco in it. The results were disappointing. I told the druggist of my experience with it. He asked if I had tried Edgeworth. I told him I never had. I followed his suggestion, and I am honest when I say that it has restored the sweetness to the pipe, and has made me wonder. Was it the pipe or the brand of tobacco that caused me to lay it away for the long period of time? As a novice, I prefer Edgeworth. I am going to stick to it, as I feel satisfied that there is none better on the market.

Sincerely yours,
Philip C. Shera

SYRACUSE HERALD COMES OUT FOR SMITH

Independent Paper to Support a Democrat for Third Time in 50 Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—For the third time in 50 years the Syracuse Herald, (Ind.) came out yesterday in support of a Democratic candidate for the presidency. It announced editorially it would support Gov. Smith. The Herald supported Grover Cleveland in 1884 and Woodrow Wilson in 1912.

"We sincerely believe," says the editorial, "that the man who has administered the affairs of the Empire State for nearly eight years with an ability, efficiency and progressive statesmanship unsurpassed in our State history, has established a better claim to promotion to the presidency than his opponent, the former Secretary of Commerce."

"Furthermore, we are obliged to recognize in Alfred E. Smith an avowed and pledged champion of American rights and liberties in a campaign in which the lines are sharply drawn in the vital relations. We must also appraise him as one who combines in his character, principles and policies a steadfast conservatism on all economic, commercial, industrial and financial questions with a stalwart progressivism in all matters related to social welfare and humanitarian reforms. From the great American center of finance and investment a center which happens to be the home of Gov. Smith and where his views on questions concerning business are well understood—come daily assurances that commercial disturbances and misgivings are today negligible as compared with the disquieting records of both previous presidential campaigns."

"We of New York know Gov. Smith as an administrator whose campaign promises are translated into performances. We have seen him accomplish great things for the State, including a radical reorganization of its government in the interest of business efficiency. We have seen him wage from hostile reluctant legislators whole batches of reforms that are now functioning for the benefit of the State and its people."

"In the light of that past we have the best warranty for saying that in the greater post of duty and opportunity to which Gov. Smith honorably aspires he would not only be inflexibly true to the popular interest, but he would transform his patriotic intent into fruitful accomplishments with the same perseverance and vigor that yielded historic results in his home State."

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—Prof. Clemens Pirquet, noted physician, was nominated for the presidency of Austria yesterday to succeed President Michael Hainisch, whose term expires Nov. 30.

Pirquet, who is a children's specialist, superintended the work of the American and British children's relief organization in Austria after the war. He has lectured in the United States.

It is understood that friends of President Hainisch are urging him to run for a third term. The only other candidate is Prof. E. Wettstein, a noted botanist. Under the law political leaders may not be candidates for the presidency.

WIFE AIDING HUSBAND
KILLED BY WILD SHOT

Arkansas Woman Struck by Bullet Intended for Man She Sought to Stab.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JONESBORO, Ark., Aug. 30.—As she attempted to raise W. R. Brown from the ground in order to stab him with an ice pick and knife, Mrs. John Cartee was struck and killed last Monday near Shannon, in Lawrence County, by a bullet fired at Brown by her husband, a tenant farmer.

Brown, a land owner of near Manson, in the same county, had been shot twice by Cartee with a .32-caliber pistol, one bullet striking him in the leg and the other entering his back. The third shot, which was intended to "finish" him, he said, struck Mrs. Cartee in the head.

The trouble started when Brown and Cartee met on the Roark farm, where the latter is said to have been ordered off for nonpayment of rent, and to have blamed Brown for the order.

Witnesses said Cartee ordered Brown to leave, and that as he turned to do so Cartee opened fire.

Brown is recovering at the St. Bernard's Hospital here.

WIFE SAYS ARCHITECT

THREATENED TO KILL HER

Mrs. William Edgar Baker of New York Files Suit for Divorce at Reno.

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 30.—Charging that her husband, William Edgar Baker, New York architect, dog and cattle fancier and yachtsman, threatened to shoot her, kept two pistols handy and boasted about his aim, Mrs. Ella M. Baker, has filed suit here for divorce.

In her complaint, Mrs. Baker charges her husband was jealous and accused her of undue familiarity with a mutual friend. Last April he ordered her to leave with a threat that he would shoot her if she refused to obey, the complaint said. She declared she left him then.

An agreement for settlement of property rights in which Mrs. Baker waived all claim to the privilege of benefitting as beneficiary of several life insurance policies was filed with the suit. She would receive all motor cars, motor boats and furniture acquired by the pair since their marriage and property at Mastic, L. I. The agreement provides that Baker retain all property acquired by him before the marriage, his medals, trophies, dogs and other pets.

The Bakers were married in New York June 1, 1914. They have no children.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH OBJECTS

TO $20,603.725 VALUATION

Officers Say I. C. C. Figures Were Based on Prices That Prevailed 10 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The tentative valuation of $20,603,725 placed on land line properties of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Co. by the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington yesterday does not represent the true value of the system and will be protested, officers of the company announced last night.

The commission's valuation, which is as of June 30, 1913, put properties owned at $683,225 and property used at $20,603,725.

A statement issued by the company said:

"The value reported is for the system as it existed nearly 10 years ago and at prices prevailing nearly 15 years ago. Even based on that period they fall far short of representing the true value of the Postal Telegraph System at that time. A valuation based on present prices would be still greater in excess of 1913 figures."

It was pointed out that the commission's tentative valuation was not intended to and did not include the extensive cable properties of the Mackay System or its other investments outside of the Land Line System.

W. L. MELLON RUNS CAMPAIGN FROM LONDON BY TELEPHONE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 30.—From his hotel in London yesterday afternoon, W. L. Mellon, nephew of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, told County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong in Pittsburgh over the telephone just how the campaign for Hoover is to be conducted in Allegheny County.

Nobody will deny that W. L. Mellon, acting for his uncle, controls the local and State Republican organizations. Several weeks ago Armstrong, sensing a strong Smith sentiment here, cabled Mellon that he would like to communicate with him on "ways and means." Shortly afterward Armstrong received a cablegram fixing the date for the telephone talk at 10 a. m. yesterday.

BROTHER FORMING EXPEDITION TO HUNT ROCKFORD FLYERS

William Cramer Explains Plans to Locate Parker Cramer and Bert Hassell.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Organization of a relief expedition to locate the missing monoplane Greater Rockford was the hope today of William Cramer of Clarion, Pa., brother of Parker Cramer, who with Bert Hassell disappeared Aug. 19 en route to Mount Evans, Greenland.

Cramer arrived here to promote plans of the Flight Committee of Rockford, Ill., where the flyers took off Aug. 16. The committee has asked the United States navy to co-operate in a search of Arctic territory should the venture be undertaken.

If an expedition is begun, Cramer explained, a plane would be taken to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland or other northern point, to be transported to Greenland by boat. The plane would explore territory on the southwest coast of Greenland where the flyers are thought to have been forced down, he said. No definite word has been received from the missing aviators since early the morning of Aug. 19, when signals indicated they were off Cape Chidley.

NEW YORK LABOR INDORSES GOV. SMITH

State Convention's Action Is Unanimous—Expects Him to Improve Judiciary.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 30.—A resolution indorsing the candidacy of Gov. Smith for the presidency was adopted by the annual convention of the New York State Federation of Labor today.

The vote was by acclamation. Two of the dissenting delegates succeeded in having their "noes" recorded after the noise incident to the vote had subsided.

If Gov. Smith is elected it means the appointment of Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States who are friendly to labor, Daniel J. Tobin, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, told the convention yesterday.

"No decision favorable to labor," said Tobin, who is also president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, "has been handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States since William H. Taft went upon that bench. William Allen White says that three or more Justices of that court are about to retire."

"Can you realize the power of a President who, when those vacancies occur, will name men who are friendly to the aspirations of labor? You can enact all the laws you wish, but unless you have a judiciary whose hearts and souls respond to the masses of the working people, your legislation is no good."

"If the policies of Coolidge and Harding are to be carried out there is not much hope for progress, judicially or otherwise, for labor. It is your duty as trades unionists to tell the country where you stand as to the candidates of the two great parties."

Compares "Parties' Labor Planks. George R. Lunn, Public Service Commissioner, also advocated indorsements of Gov. Smith, although he did not call him by name.

Tobin compared the labor plank in the platforms of the two parties, asserting the Democratic party has been more specific and more sympathetic to the labor movement.

"No man living could have made a clearer exposition of his attitude toward organized labor than the Democratic candidate in his speech of acceptance," said Tobin. "No man feeling that he was in duty bound to say something to get the labor vote could have made a more elusive statement on labor than did the candidate of the opposition party."

"As far as labor is concerned we know nothing seriously wrong with him. He has always expressed sympathy with labor, but has never held an elective office of any kind. In the offices that he has held he has rendered splendid unselfish service. He was a millionaire at 30. He made his money honestly. He is above suspicion from a monetary standpoint."

Touches on Other Issues.

Here Tobin made the declarations on the necessity of securing a friendly judiciary. Previously he had touched on unemployment, saying the figures of the Department of Labor are worthless because "collected by underpaid men who will take any figure you can give, with the Republican party ignoring them."

Millions of men, he said, are idle, with the Republican party ignoring the situation. He also declared against any change in the immigration law, asserting the "bootlegging of immigrants with those coming in through regular channels" was making the situation worse.

Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of New York Indorse Smith. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Gov. Smith was indorsed last night as the choice for the presidency by the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of New York State. The indorsement was given, according to the formal resolution, for the purpose of "not only honoring an outstanding friend of labor, but also in part to discharge an obligation of labor" to the man who has been its consistent friend.

The resolution was adopted unanimously at the biennial session of the board, which is in session for several days.

Pressmen's Convention Wildly Applaud Mention of Smith.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PRESSMEN'S HOME, Tenn., Aug. 30.—The mention of Gov. Smith's name occasioned a tremendous ovation at the International Printing Pressmen's Union convention yesterday. George L. Berry, president of the union, was explaining how he came to accept the appointment as chairman of the labor bureau of the National Democratic Committee. After he had finished the convention almost unanimously approved his acceptance of the post.

Berry's speech was in the nature of a Smith campaign talk. "The advocacy of Gov. Smith and Senator Robinson of remedial legislation affecting the workers of America, men, women and children, in industry is beyond criticism," Berry said. "They have advocated legislation for the protection of men and women of industry that has challenged opposition successfully."

WHOLE STREET CAR ZONE FARE SYSTEM TO BE INVESTIGATED

State Commission Consolidates All Cases Against Public Service Co.

The Missouri Public Service Commission announced today that it would conduct an investigation of the entire structure of zone fares of the St. Louis Public Service Co.

To that end it has ordered all pending zone cases before it consolidated. Three county communities, University City, Moorland and St. Peters, have applied to the Public Service Commission for free transfers from city lines. Overland is asking that the company be enjoined from changing its zones on the Creve Coeur line in a manner that will make half of Overland pay two fares to the Delmar loop.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of herbs, berries and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

UPPER RIVER TONNAGE SURVEY TO BE MADE

Valley Association Prepares Evidence in Fight for 9-Foot Channel.

A survey of tonnage available for the Upper Mississippi barge line, provided the six-foot channel is deepened to nine feet, will be conducted by a Mississippi Valley Association committee of traffic experts of 17 cities. It was announced yesterday.

Evidence gathered by the committee may be submitted at a hearing of Major-General Edgar Jadwin's board of engineers. Gen. Jadwin wired yesterday to James E. Smith, president of the association, in reply to Smith's telegram of protest against a report of the Rock Island District Engineer, said to hold that prospective tonnage does not warrant the cost of a survey for the nine-foot channel.

"Report of the District Engineer has not yet been received," Gen. Jadwin telegraphed. "After study and comment by Division Engineer it will go to the board of engineers for review. Before taking action the board will hold a hearing as requested by interested parties."

Gen. Thomas H. Jackson of St. Louis, Western Division Engineer and president of the Mississippi River Commission, was engrossed with the report today, declining a thorough study of it, declined to comment.

Gen. Jadwin's fairness in giving the Upper River hearing was complimented by Lachlan Macleay, secretary of the association, who departed to confer with traffic experts and organize the survey. Advocates of river development point out that a major stretch of six-foot channel in a river system of nine-foot channels throttles the service, and that tonnage handled on lines which must have two types of equipment, to fit the two types of channel, is a poor indication of tonnage that would be available if the channel improvement were completed.

Rock Island authorities were notified yesterday by Gen. Thomas Q. Ashburn, head of the Inland Waterways Corporation, to go ahead with their plans to build a $230,000 rail-and-water terminal for the Upper Mississippi barge line. The city has voted $230,000 of bonds to finance the terminal, for which the other two of the Tri-Cities, Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Ia., were competitors.

The original report of the corporation's consulting engineer recommended Rock Island as the site. A hearing of the other cities' arguments against Rock Island was held last month, but the engineer's revised report answered the arguments and reiterated his first choice.

ST. LOUIS LOW AMONG CITIES IN TUBERCULOSIS DEATH RATE
Survey by Insurance Company Shows 523 Deaths From Disease Here Last Year.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Spectator, insurance journal, publishes an article by Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Insurance Co., showing that in 50 cities which in 1927 had a population exceeding 30,000, the death rate for pulmonary tuberculosis has declined from 174.4 per 100,000 in 1910 to 72.7 in 1927. In other words, while the population of these cities has increased by about 50 per cent, the death rate from pulmonary tuberculosis in the same period of years has declined by just about 50 per cent.

"The essential reasons for the reduction," the article says, "are to be found first in higher wages, yielding better nutrition and resulting in increased disease resistance. Second, shorter hours, resulting in a lessening of industrial fatigue, and as a consequence a higher disease resistance. Third, decidedly better workshop conditions, providing better light, ventilation and most of all, the removal of health injurious or poisonous dusts. Aside from the foregoing, the reduction in gross intemperance, which is now relatively rare among the mass of population, has unquestionably a bearing upon the declining rate."

A supplementary tabulation of deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis during 1926-27 in 135 American cities, which had an aggregate population of more than 36,000,000, shows the death rate during 1927 was only 62.5 per 100,000, against 75.9 during the preceding year. The rate increased in 49 cities and declined in 86. The statistics show St. Louis had 482 deaths in 1926, with a rate of 58.1, and 523 deaths in 1927, with a rate of 62.3. St. Louis and Pittsburgh have the lowest rate among the large cities.

William Delphay, Printer, Is Burned Fighting Flames.

Fire caused by an overheated gas dryer caused $1500 damage at the Robertson Envelope & Printing Co., 18 South Sixth street, at 2 o'clock this morning.

HOLDUPS GET $75, ADVISE VICTIMS NOT TO GET EXCITED

Force Proprietor of Barbeque Stand and Wife to Lie on Floor; Motorist Robbed.
Three armed men entered a barbeque stand at 5916 West Florissant avenue last midnight, and took $75 after forcing William Diestelkamp, the proprietor, and his wife, Sadie, to lie on the floor.

The men, one of whom remarked, "don't get excited, this is just a stickup," escaped in an automobile.

Earl Self, 3682 Olive street, reported to police that he was robbed of $5 by two men, who knocked him unconscious when he was slow in raising his hands in a holdup on the Lemay Ferry road, near Telegraph road, last night. Self said he stopped his machine when one of the men shouted, "turn up the side road," believing the men to be officers. The men escaped in a machine driven by a third man.

Hearings on Flood Control. BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Aug. 29.—Senator A. S. Cuthbertson, chairman of the Illinois Valley Flood Control Commission, has made arrangements for the third of the commission's hearings to be held here Sept. 4, following one at Chicago Sept. 4, and another at Peoria, Sept. 5. Flood damage between Havana and Florence will be discussed at the hearing here.

FLORANADA CLAIMS MUCH EXAGGERATED

Company Had $20,000,000 Project but Not a Chance in the World.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Knowing that contemplated improvements to the Floranada Club, society real estate venture at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., whose failure cost its backers $6,000,000, would have cost $20,000,000, thus forcing sale of lots, the American-British Improvement Corporation, holding company nevertheless mailed advertising brochures to prospective patrons declaring that the company had ample money to complete the project.

So much did M. D. Carmichael, attorney for Benjamin Hoffmann, builder, whose claim of $121,000 against the American-British Improvement Corporation occasioned the bankruptcy hearing yesterday, elicit from witnesses testifying before Referee in Bankruptcy Stephenson.

Withdrawn Money From Bank.
It also was developed that the corporation's money in two Florida banks was withdrawn shortly before the voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed, and that officers of the corporation were in the habit of keeping company funds in their personal bank accounts.

A further hearing will be held Sept. 20. Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, mother of James H. R. Cromwell, president of the corporation, has been subpoenaed.

Bernard R. Hodge, vice president and treasurer of the holding company, admitted the $20,000,000 plan and said there was not a "chance in the world" that this indebtedness could have been met except from the sale of lots.

Firm's Funds in His Own Account.
As to banking methods, Hodge admitted he had carried from $50,000 to $100,000 of the company's funds in his own name. Mrs. Stotesbury and Mrs. Hodge, widow of the motor manufacturer and mother-in-law of Cromwell, he said, wired a $200,000 loan to the corporation at Fort Lauderdale. These funds were turned over to the corporation at once, he said, adding that the books of the company would bear him out, but he said he "had no idea" of what became of his personal check book, bank books and other records of these transactions. Mrs. Hodge and Mrs. Stotesbury put up $450,000 toward liquidation of debts, he said. Mrs. Hodge's total contribution he put at $1,000,000. Mrs. Stotesbury lost $750,000, he said. All legitimate creditors, he insisted, have been paid off with only some $150,000 in fees claimed under contracts made on a contingent basis outstanding. These, according to Carmichael, approximate $250,000.

15 NEW SCHOOL TEACHERS TO AID ESKIMO CHILDREN

Americans Leave Seattle for Six Weeks' Voyage to Frozen Arctic Ports.

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 30.—Arctic exile holds no terror for 15 young school teachers who are on their way to Alaska in the stanch little U. S. S. Boxer.

They will augment and take the places of other instructors. For a year the teachers have no communication with the outside world. Once a year the cutter goes to the frozen ports near Point Barrow, taking food, supplies, books and a new batch of teacher recruits. Coming back it returns those teachers, whose terms have expired, and fills its holds with commodities of the country.

There are 95 Government schools, enrolling between 4000 and 5000 Eskimo children, and in spite of the hardships of the job there always are more applicants than places to fill, says Dr. William Hamilton, chief of the Alaskan division in Washington.

It takes the Boxer six weeks to plow its way to its destination. In the more isolated villages, where the school teacher often is the only white person for hundreds of miles, married couples are sought to take the posts. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Wolfe have completed a term in one of the more inaccessible villages, and they assert the experience has been invaluable.

SLAIN BLIND PIG OPERATOR IS IDENTIFIED AS MARQUIS

Montreal Newspaper Says Report Owner Was of Noble Family of Naples.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, Ont., Aug. 30.—The Montreal Gazette says members of the Italian community here who knew the Marquis Luigi intimately assert that he and Luigi Patricia, 60 years old, who was shot in his "blind pig" eight days ago, were the same person. The man died Saturday, and notices appeared announcing the sudden death of the Marquis on the same day.

The Marquis, son of the late Marquis and Marchioness de Luigi of Naples, had been in Montreal since 1912. The Gazette says, having left his native land because of the enmity of certain secret societies there. The Marquis arrived in the United States but after having some difficulties with the American immigration authorities he came to Canada where he became a citizen.

LIQUOR RUNNERS IN CANADA MAINTAIN SPIES IN DETROIT

Are Informed When Way Is Clear for Dash to U. S. Testimony at Windsor Trial.

By the Associated Press.
WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 30.—Testimony that liquor runners on the Detroit river are notified from some mysterious source in Detroit when the coast is clear for a dash into the United States has been given by Benjamin Longley, dock manager for the Michigan Transit Co. He was a witness in the trial of his company, charged with illegal storage of liquor.

"We get telephone calls from Detroit informing us 'let the boys come over now, it's all right,'" he said. He added he did not know the source of the calls.

William Harbert, an officer of the Michigan Transit, testified as to business arrangements between bootleggers who buy liquors and the runners who deliver it. Where delivery is guaranteed by the runner, he said, they charge from $7 to $10 a case for handling. If the consignee demands no guarantee of safe delivery, the tariff is $3 to $5 a case. He said that the Michigan Transit was little more than an agent for National Distillers Ltd., of Montreal. He said the company got only 25 cents a case for handling.

"So your graft is over the river on the volume of sales?" the court prosecutor asked. Harbert admitted such was "a case."

The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The American team scored the first and second victory in the international golf matches with the British team for the Walker Cup here this afternoon when Bobby Jones and Chick Evans, top-ranking American pair, defeated Hazlett and Hope, 5 and 4 after George Von Elm and Jimmie Johnson had won from T. P. Perkins, British champion, and William Tweddell, British captain, 7 up and 6 to play.

In the third match completed, Gunn and MacKenzie defeated Beck and MacCallum, 7 and 6. Francis Ouimet and Jimmie Johnson defeated Torrance and Storey, 2 and 1, by scoring an eagle three in the last hole, 537 yards, where Johnston laid his spoon shot dead in the hole.

Jones and Evans scored five times on the last six holes, three of them birdies. At the eleventh hole they holed a 30-yard putt. On the fourteenth Chick pitched within three feet of the pin. While on the fifteenth and final hole Jones slipped the ball dead to the hole. In addition they had easy three-putts on two short holes. The British themselves played par on all of the holes except two.

It took Von Elm and Sweetser only three holes of the last nine to down Tweddell and Perkins, although after halving the eighth hole in par, they were able to score the next two in one above par figures, neither par playing well.

Gunn and MacKenzie, after sharing the fifth in par with Beck and MacCallum, lost the sixth to Perkins, but resumed their 4 up lead by paring the 290-yard seventh.

Jones and Evans got a half in a mediocre five at the second, but at the short third Evans got his tee shot in a trap and Jones failed to get out. They took five and lost in a par to be two down.

Von Elm and Sweetser won the second hole with a par to be eight up but dropped the next two to perfect golf and were only six up to a par on the fifth was good for only a half.

Hazlett and Hope got tangled up on the long fourth and failed to recover from a trap, taking an estimated seven, while Evans and Jones got a par five to be only one down. The fifth was halved in perfect figures.

Jones and Evans got a birdie three on the 297-yard sixth to get even with Hazlett and Hope and shared the next in par.

OUAFI, OLYMPIC WINNER, JOINS RANKS OF PROS

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The special announcement today by the French line that "El Abdel Ouafi" has signed contracts to run 10 full marathon races and as many more 25-kilometer jogs over a period of five months in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

It is understood El Ouafi will receive $10,000, the equivalent of $20,000 francs, under the terms of his agreement with Rene Racover, described as an Egyptian theatrical producer. This contrasts with the runner's earnings, up to the present, of $4 francs, approximately $1.60 per day, in a Paris automobile factory.

One of the clauses in El Ouafi's contract is that he will run one marathon every two weeks during his North American tour.

The bushy-haired little runner, unlike other French athletes, proceeds to the United States unworried about prohibition. He made no special request to introduce wines for his daily meals, since he drinks only milk, cut with water.

Ray Also a Professional.

News of Ouafi's decision to turn professional follows similar action by the American long-distance star, Jole Ray, and develops keen international rivalry at marathon running for the first time since 1908. The disputed Olympic victory of Johnny Hayes, the American, at London 20 years ago over the Italian, Dorando, developed a series of professional matches.

The old Madison Square Garden was the scene of several of the old-time races and the new garden management now is preparing to match El Ouafi with Ray and other distance runners who may be enticed from amateur ranks.

El Ouafi's projected trip to Mexico embraces the possibility of meeting the famous banana-eating Tarahumara Indians over the latter's own racing trails. Two of these Mexicans, Terraza and Torres, found the Amsterdam Olympic course too flat for their type of performance and finished far behind El Ouafi.

DUNDEE-THOMPSON GO RESET FOR TONIGHT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Barring another deluge, Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, and Young Jack Thompson, San Francisco, will battle 10 rounds to a decision at the White Sox park tonight. Dundee's title will not be endangered as Thompson has agreed to enter the ring over the welterweight limit. The bout was postponed from last night until tonight because of a heavy downpour in the afternoon.

So as not to interfere with the Thompson-Dundee match, promoter Jim Mullen has postponed the bout between Rene de Vos, Belgian middleweight, and Cowboy Jack Willis of Texas from tonight to next Thursday.

STEADMAN AND WOLFE WILL FIGHT TONIGHT

GREENWOOD, Miss., Aug. 30.—Paul Steadman, St. Louis featherweight boxer, will box Kid Wolfe of this city in a 10-round bout here tonight. Wolfe claims the Dixie title. He has defeated Milton Manguna of Little Rock and Claude Wilson of Birmingham, leading Southern featherweights.

AUSTRALIAN NET TEAM WINS WAY TO FINAL ROUND

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 30.—George Lott and John Hennessey won the first two sets of their semifinal round match for the American doubles tennis championship here today for the French team of Cochet and Brugnon. Both sets were won by a score of 6-4.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 30.—The Australian doubles team of Gerald Patterson and Jack Hawkes won its way into the national doubles finals here this afternoon, by eliminating the American team of John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison in four sets. Score, 6-4, 7-3, 7-9, 6-4.

Gerald Patterson, veteran of many hard-fought court battles, was the mainstay of the visiting team.

Patterson and Hawkes won the first set, 6-4, when they broke through Van Ryn's service in the tenth game. The set went with service up to that point. Until this break, both pairs had exhibited lawless tennis.

The Australians then took the second set, 6-3, due to Allison's wildness. Patterson and Hawkes broke through his service twice and the American pair failed to score a single point for two games.

By breaking through Patterson's service for the first time in the match, in the twenty-sixth game, the determined American pair regained in the tournament by taking the third set, 6-7. Patterson committed a double service fault and then netted the set point.

Australians Win.

Patterson and Hawkes took the fourth set, 6-4, and the match by breaking through Van Ryn's service in the ninth game. The set had gone with service up to that point. With the game standing 40-love, Allison became wild and Van Ryn made a double service fault which gave the Australians ad-out.

The victory made Patterson a national doubles finalist for the fourth time. He was paired in the final with Norman Brooks, O'Hara Wood and Hawkes. Three years ago Patterson and Hawkes were defeated in the final round by "Big Bill" Tilden and Vincent Richards.

Up to Hennessey and Lott.

The task of preventing an all-foreign final match then rested on the shoulders of George M. Lott Jr. and John Hennessey, American Davis cup players and the top-seeded pair in the domestic group, who had to face Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, the marvelous Frenchmen, in the second semifinal.

The first set went with service for the four games and then the Yankees broke through Cochet's service in the fifth, a love game. The Frenchmen then evened the count breaking through Lott's service. Brugnon then held his service and made the count 4-2 in favor of France.

The American pair took the crucial game by breaking through Cochet's service for the second time and then Lott served the game which gave the homebreeds the first set, 6-4.

Americans Win Two Straight.

In the second set the Frenchmen won on service an dthen broke through Hennessey. The Americans netted three easy kills to lose the service game. Cochet served and made the set stand 3-0. The Americans won on service and then broke thr Brugnon.

Lott and Hennessey then evened the set on to former's service by feeding lobs to Brugnon, which he either netted or returned outside. Cochet was then unable to hold his service and the Americans led, 4-3.

The Americans won the crucial game by breaking through Cochet's service for the second time and then Lott served the game which gave the homebreeds the first set, 6-4.

Neddie, who came from Chicago expressly for the Hopeful, worked six furlongs in 1:14 2-5 in handy fashion. The fractional time was :23 4-5, :55 2-5, :47 4-5, 1:21 2-5 and 1:14 3-5.

Twink, owned by the Loma Stable, did a good six-furlongs over the local course this morning, closing the distance in 1:15 handily. The colt is in fine condition and ready for a fast race.

CANDIDATES FOR HOPEFUL STAKES IN FAST TRIALS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Col. E. R. Bradley's Blue Larkspur, winner of the National Stallion and Juvenile Stakes, turned in a sensational workout after yesterday's races here in preparation for his engagement in the rich Hopeful Stakes, to be run here Saturday.

Blue Larkspur, with more than 115 pounds, worked the three-quarters in 1:15 1-5 over a track that was deep and holding.

Blue Larkspur's fractional time was :24, :49 1-5, and 1:15 1-5. The son of Black Servant is in superb condition and will face the barrier as fit as hands can make him. He will undoubtedly be made favorite for the classic and if he wins will probably be installed winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby.

Walter J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland and Edward B. McLean's Neddie, who formerly ran as Plank Walker, were given fast trials after the first race today. Dr. Freeland did the best work of the two. He went five furlongs over a good track in :59, showing high speed all the way. With heavy weight up, he broke at the six furlong pole and topped the quarter in :23 3-5 and three furlongs in :34 4-5.

Neddie, which came from Chicago expressly for the Hopeful, worked six furlongs in 1:14 2-5 in handy fashion. The fractional time was :23 4-5, :55 2-5, :47 4-5, 1:21 2-5 and 1:14 3-5.

Christner is Victor Over Sekyra on Foul.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 30.—K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, won from Joe Sekyra, lightweight, on a foul in the second round of their 10-round bout last night. The Akron boy had complained several times that Sekyra was not breaking cleanly. Then a low right-hand punch put Christner on the canvas.

2-RUN LEAD OVER PIRATES NULLIFIED BY A DOWNPOUR

By J. Roy Steckton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 30.—Bill McKechnie's league-leading Cardinals, apparently through with their slump, were on the way to their sixth successive victory this afternoon when rain interfered.

The Cardinals had scored two runs off Ray Kremer in the first inning and Grover Cleveland Alexander, seeking his fifteenth victory of the season, had turned back the Pirates without a hit in their opening frame when the downpour started.

With one out, Frankie Frisch drew a pass and on a hit and run play he went to third when Orsatti singled to left. Orsatti took second on the throw to third and Jim Bottomley clicked a double to center, sending Frisch and Orsatti over the plate.

Couldn't Hurry Enough.

Alexander, hurrying to get in the legal five innings before the cloudy skies broke, walked Adam to start the Pirates first, but Lloyd Waner forced Adams and Paul Waner and Grantham were retired on simple flies.

As a result of the halt in today's program, two games will be played tomorrow, the first starting at 1:45 o'clock, which is 11:45 St. Louis time.

Manager McKechnie still plans to use Alexander, Haines and Sherdel against the Pirates, but is uncertain as to how he will rotate the three. Haines warmed up in Chicago yesterday, only to have the game washed out by rain while the Cards were at bat. He will be ready tomorrow and Alexander's short stay on the mound this afternoon will not prevent his working in one of the games of the twin bill, though McKechnie may use Sherdel and Haines tomorrow and save the Old Master for the single game Saturday.

As this is the Cardinals' last visit of the season to Pittsburgh, games not played during the stay here will be wiped off the schedule, unless the situation of the race at the end of the season would cause President Heydler to order the games played.

Orsatti Back in Game.

Ernest Orsatti, who wrenched his knee in Chicago, and who was kept out of the game there yesterday because of the slippery condition of the field, reported the knee strong again today and was in right field for the League leaders.

Jim Bottomley is still under weight, but is playing on his nerve because the team needs him. Every day of rest will be useful to him.

Except for Bottomley's weakness, the effects of an influenza attack, the team is in excellent condition for the drive down the stretch. The pitchers are in fine form, the hitters are showing their old punch and the team spirit is excellent, confidence having been restored by their five straight victories and their brilliant showing in Chicago.

Hill and Fussell probably will pitch for the Pirates tomorrow, though Kremer may be sent to the slab again.

FORT SMITH BATTERY SOLD TO DETROIT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 30.—Dick Gifford, big right-hand pitcher, and Cather Wally of the Fort Smith Western Association club, have been sold to the Detroit Tigers. Manager Runt Marr announced here today.

Gifford, a recruit from Crossett, Ark., has won 18 and lost 19 and is runner-up in strikeouts with 142. Wally, rated the best catcher in the Western Association, is batting around .340. Fort Smith is Detroit farm.

Erickson Stops Savely.

WEST NEW YORK, N. J., Aug. 30.—Man Mountain Erickson of Minneapolis, 210, knocked out Frank Zavela, Newark, 199, in the first round of an eight-round bout here last night.

HOWLEY THINKS THE BROWNS ARE SURE TO FINISH IN THIRD PLACE

Handsomeness

THEY'VE found a new manager for Knute Hansen, the Unendurable Dane. Hansen has new managers every now and then. Whenever he bolts for new climes, he returns with a new pilot.

Hansen steamed into New York from Racine, a few years ago, and made a great hit. He was only a kid, and he was George Underwood gave him a great send-off.

And then Hansen disappeared. He had joined the marines and gone a-traveling. He returned to this country. Next he turned up in China, where Matty Mathews dug him out. He sent him glowing messages about the "next champion." But presently Matty Mathews was out of the picture. And Knute was still far from being a champion.

Can't Keep Him Down. Next Hansen was in the movies. As handsome a man as Knute could hardly escape the movies.

Then Woodman and Lawrence, veteran promoters, bought his contract. They devoted their experience to building him up, but he, jumped them, just as he was attracting notice. He knocked out Phil Scott in a punch and then ran away to Europe, closely pursued by still another manager, Walter Friedman.

Friedman finally brought him back home with an incumbrance. Knute had committed matrimony. Now Hansen is out of Friedman's hands, and is being steered by Billy Gibson, lately manager of Gene Tunney. That is evidence that Rickard is interested in grooming this big fellow for a title.

One doubts that it can be done. The man apparently lacks sustained purpose. And some say he lacks a still more important factor—heart for his work.

Gibson is a great handler of men. He has steered two champions into his hands. He may have a third in Hansen. But Knute's past is against it. A rolling stone gathers nothing but hard knocks.

Leo Peculiar Flynn.

A STRANGE pugilistic partnership was effected when Leo P. Flynn decided to manage young Stribling. Flynn succeeds Pa Stribling as adviser to the handsome young athlete.

This fighter is not a Flynn type. Like Hansen, Stribling is a wonderful piece of manhood. He is the best-looking fighter in the ring today, when in action. One wonders why it is that he has never been crowned.

That is he wonders this after watching him fight against a dub. Viewed in the ring against a fighter with a punch, however, Stribling is entirely a different man. His style becomes cramped. He grabs gloves, clinches and seeks the safe way out. Able to hit a real sock, he is unwilling to trade or take any chances.

That is why he has not made good with the fans. Flynn may change him, but we doubt it. Walk Miller gave it up as a bad job after advertising the wonders he had wrought in Stribling. The first big fight that Stribling had, after Walker "changed" him, was one of his worst.

Rickard dropped him promptly.

Flynn is a wise coach. He will at least make some improvement in Stribling's fortunes, if not in his popularity.

This is the golden age for heavyweight hopes. With a champion still to be named, Stribling is as eligible as another. Perhaps the wonderful opportunity for fame and fortune will build up a better morale in this gifted young athlete.

Trials for Boat Races Postponed

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Aug. 30.—Rough water and high winds today caused postponement of the trials to determine which three speed boats will represent the United States in the Harmsworth trophy races Sept. 1-5.

The trial heats, which were scheduled to start today, probably will be held tomorrow afternoon. Another development was the loss to the American team of Ralph Snoddy, who was to drive Miss Los Angeles in her qualifying trials. Snoddy suffered an attack of appendicitis Tuesday night and last night was operated upon, despite his pleas that the infected appendix be frozen so that he might drive his boat in the trials.

Stanley Reid of Detroit is being considered as a substitute for Snoddy at the wheel of Miss Los Angeles. The Baby Chic, owned by Dr. R. B. Smith of Cleveland, is expected to arrive here some time today to enter the trials.

The only British contender, Estelle II, Miss Marian Barbara Cartwright's craft, was put into the river yesterday and given a trial run to familiarize the pilot with the course.

SHARKEY READY TO FIGHT AGAIN NEXT NOVEMBER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Jack Sharkey and Knute Hansen will not meet before next spring. This was the burden of a discourse yesterday by James J. Johnston, local spokesman for Sharkey. James explained the existence of a budding feud between the two men who are being maneuvered into the spotlight by Tex Rickard.

"Sharkey will never fight Hansen's manager," declared the famous ten per center. "Why? Because Jack is mad at Gibson."

"He has nothing against Hansen personally but when he was seeking a match with Gene Tunney he was viciously slandered by Gibson who broadcast that Sharkey had no heart and was a 'quitter.' Just for that Jack won't fight Hansen, if Gibson says he will."

And there you are. Yes, we have plenty of money.

In other lines of endeavor an insult calls for a fight but when two professional fighters get mad at each other they refuse to fight.

Sharkey to Fight in November. Johnston, incidentally, revealed that Sharkey's recent injury is not as serious as first proclaimed.

"He'll be ready to box in six weeks," asserted James, "and you'll see him in the Garden early in November. The case on his left knee will be removed next week."

Meanwhile an opponent is being sought for Hansen, who is eager to get started. Paulino Uscudun, who took a decision from the four Dane in the Garden, a year ago last February, may be the man. Paulino is now on the Atlantic bound for New York. Jack Doran is another possibility. Also Tom Heeney, who will be back in November.

Hansen hasn't been cleared from the managerial embargo but expects to be straightened out by next Tuesday. Gibson was reported yesterday as signing a contract with Hansen but this could not be confirmed.

Walter Friedman, who is trying to get a settlement from Hansen, asserts that Gibson will not be a factor in any arrangement with Hansen until Knute can free himself of all threatened legal entanglements.

Tex Rickard declares Gibson and Hansen's Wall Street backers have worked out the details of a new contract which will eliminate the Knute and George Lawrence and that this document will be filed with the boxing commission tomorrow. Then the fight will be on.

All hands have been summoned to a conference at the boxing commission offices next Tuesday.

Stribling to Fight at Garden. Gene Fowler, new Public Relations counsel at the garden, announces that Young Stribling positively will pry open the Madison Square Garden boxing season, next Thursday evening.

Squires as party of the second part, Jack Curley has assigned some of his best wrestlers to train the South African champion with the idea of teaching him to break Stribling's favorite wrestling holds.

An effort is being made to match Roberto Roberti with his Italian rival, Arturo De Kuh. This would be a "natural" at Ebbets Field, where both of those boys are popular.

Jack Fugazy hopes to get in two or three more open air shots for Roberti, who is going back to Italy for a visit late in the fall. While in Europe he may attempt to bowl over some of the other foreign menaces. He has been offered fights in Italy, France, Germany and England.

Roberti will not be permitted to enter the garden tournament, but Fugazy expects to have the Italian giant in a spot to demand attention from Rickard's headlines next summer.

Senior League Players Lead in Three Infield Positions on Babe Ruth's Team

American League Only on Par With Rival Organization at First Base, Figures Show.

By Herman Wecke

For the purpose of selecting an infield for the Babe Ruth All-American team, contest, the National League offers far more possibilities than the American. Records for the campaign show that the outstanding infielders of 1928, with few exceptions, are playing with clubs in the John Heydler circuit.

In fact, there is just one position in which the American, as far as the statistics go, is on a par with the senior organization. This is at first base. Here there are two great players to choose from—one in each circuit. They are Jim Bottomley of the Cardinals and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees. They are the "standouts," though the National also has a few youngsters in Del Bissone and Don Hurst. To offset the last pair, the American can offer Lu Blue and Joe Judge.

Bottomley and Gehrig Favored. However, with Bottomley and Gehrig going as they have this season, there is little mention of them in the balloting. Bottomley, until he recently went into a swat slump, was leading the National in just about everything, such as runs scored, runs batted in, doubles and triples and was always close up hitting and home runs. Aside from that, he was playing a fine fielding game. And the same thing was true of Gehrig.

But after leaving first base, the margin is greatly in favor of the National. For instance, at second base, the Heydler circuit has three fine athletes—Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Braves and the leading batter in the league; Hugh Critz of the Reds, regarded as the best defensive man in the game today, and Frank Frisch of the Cardinals, still a star, in spite of his recent slump.

Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees is without a doubt the best in the American. Lazzeri can hit and can field. But injuries have greatly handicapped him this season. The next best is the Barnard infielder, who is Gehrig's partner in the Tigers. He is a youngster who is still coming and who is expected to make a real name for himself before another season has passed.

N. L. Has Edge at Third. At third, the argument is not even close. The National has a far-corner guard in the game are with the clubs in the National. They are Pie Traynor and Freddie Lindstrom. They are wailing a great battle for supremacy. Both can hit and both can field. It's a real hit for the batter when a ball goes through either man. They are both swatting well over the 300 mark for the year.

There's nothing to compare with Traynor or Lindstrom in the American League. Of course, the Yankees have Joe Dugan. But Dugan has passed his prime. He has a trick knee and this has put him out of the running on more than one occasion. Then Oscar Bluege has not lived up to his past reputation. There is Frank O'Rourke of the Browns. He's considered one of the smartest men in the national pastime, but he is not a hitter of the caliber of Traynor and Lindstrom.

Wright Handicapped by Injuries. Travis Jackson and Glenn Wright, despite the fact that the Pirate star has been handicapped by injuries, loom up as better shortstops than Joe Sewell or Mark Koenig, the best the American has to offer.

With the caliber of the players so nearly equal in so many positions, it looks a tough task for Babe Ruth to select his all-star infield. The home run king will have trouble at each of the four infield positions. And no matter

Babe Ruth Contest Books Will Close Tomorrow Night

Fans contemplating entering the Babe Ruth All-American Team Contest are advised that midnight, Aug. 31, will mark the last moment at which selections will be received. Letters postmarked midnight or earlier on that date will be accepted.

To select an all-star team from among the outstanding players of the National and American leagues, with a view to having it coincide with one which Babe Ruth, aided by a committee of sports writers, will select, is the chief object of the contest. And the judges will also be guided in the awarding of trophies by the clearness of the short explanation which must accompany each entry. This little essay, telling the reason for the selection, is essential and must not exceed 200 words. Lack of an explanation will invalidate an entry.

Ten players will make up the team, two pitchers and eight other players, one for each position. Only one team may be submitted by each contestant. No correction will be accepted, once an entry has been received and filed. Take your time and make your selection final.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself. Players must be selected on the basis of their play in the 1928 season only. Performances of previous years do not count. A player can be placed in a position other than the one he regularly occupies, provided he has occupied such position in one or more championship games. Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field, unless he has played there at least once in 1928.

The trophies will be $100 cash for first, $50 for second and $25 for third. The winner of the contest will also receive a hat autographed by Babe Ruth, an autographed league ball mounted on a blotter holder. Mail selection to the BABE RUTH CONTEST EDITOR, care the Post-Dispatch.

Yanks Had 7-6 Mark in Series With Westerners

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The brilliant home stand of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the downfall of the Yankees in their own territory provided the highlights of the fifth general inter-sectional series in the major leagues, which ended yesterday.

Winning 13 games and losing only 5, the Pirates led the Western clubs to an overwhelming triumph over the Eastern invaders. The Westerners scored 37 victories, while the Eastern clubs won but 20 games. The Cardinals, winning six games and losing the same number, had the worst record of the home clubs, while not one of the invaders won as many games as they lost.

In the American League, the Eastern clubs, playing on their home grounds, outscored the Westerners by the narrow margin of three games, winning 31 and losing 28. The failure of the Yankees to live up to their previous record was mainly responsible. The Yanks won seven games and dropped six at the stadium. In two previous home stands, the New Yorkers had won 24 games and lost seven.

LARY, HIGH-PRICED COAST STAR, MAY JOIN YANKES THIS SEASON
By the Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 30.—Lynford Lary, crack shortstop of the Oakland team, Pacific Coast League, who has been sold to the New York Yankees for 1929 delivery, may join the American League club this season if the Oaks decide they can do without his services.

Del Howard, business manager, said yesterday that the Yankees have asked for immediate delivery on Lary to take the infield job of Tony Lazzeri, injured recently.

The Oakland club is making a determined drive for first place in the Coast League but Howard said if the club does not make the proper showing within two weeks Lary will be released to the Yanks.

Howard pointed out that Oakland is not obligated to turn over either Lary or Jimmy Reese, second baseman, until next season. The pair was sold to the Yanks for a sum reported at $125,000.

CAPONE LINKED WITH EASTERN LIQUOR RING

"Scarface" Gang Leader and Sailor Freedman Involved in Philadelphia Crimes.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—A grand jury's investigation of bootlegging, gangster slayings and quick fortunes in Philadelphia today involved "Scarface" Al Capone of Chicago.

Capone was named by the prosecutor as an associate of Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, wealthy sportsman and fight manager, who is charged with being the leader of an alcohol ring and with directing attempts to intimidate witnesses.

Louis R. Elftman, former chauffeur for Hoff, before the grand jury yesterday, linked Hoff with the ring and asserted he had been beaten by Sailor Freedman, former Chicago prize fighter, and threatened with death, if he testified against his former employer. A warrant has been issued for Freedman's arrest.

Elftman's disclosures, District Attorney John Monaghan said, show that Hoff had a close alliance with Capone and had been instrumental in bringing to Philadelphia gunmen from Chicago to intimidate witnesses in the investigation.

In reviewing the evidence gathered thus far Monaghan said:

"This man (Elftman) has had the courage to tell the truth about the rotten conditions, and at the risk of his life. He was a respectable electrician with a nice wife and two children. Seven years ago he met Max Hoff. He did some electrical work for him.

"Then this bootlegger and employer of gunmen tempted him with big wages. He employed him as a trailer for alcohol trucks from one place to another. On the first trip Hoff accompanied him. They both had guns, supplied by Hoff. They went to the Consolidated Ethyl Alcohol Co. A load of alcohol was obtained and he and Hoff trailed it to a freight station where Hoff superintended loading it into a car. Elftman was used to trail trucks of alcohol and did this 400 or 500 times.

"Eighteen months ago Elftman decided to go straight and quit. Soon after he served him with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury he was met on the street by Sailor Freedman, a notorious character. He was beaten up and his life threatened.

"Elftman is going to get day and night protection from now on; there is going to be no killing so far as he is concerned."

In his efforts to trace the ownership of $10,000,000 said to have been deposited here under fictitious names by wealthy "racket" men, the District Attorney has seized the books and records of Marks, Weinberg & Co., public accountants.

BANDITS HOLD UP MOTORISTS

Operating on Highway Between Mexico City and Pueblo.

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, Aug. 30.—A band of 12 outlaws, supposedly under command of Maximiliano Viguera, appeared on the highway between Mexico City and Pueblo yesterday and robbed the passengers of at least 12 automobiles and motorbuses. The bandits forced the passengers down from the cars, took their valuables and then allowed them to go.

The family of Gov. Donato Bravo Izquierdo of Pueblo had a narrow escape. The chauffeur halted the car and turned it in time to get away. The outlaws fired at the car but there were no casualties.

NEW CONGRESS MEETS TOMORROW IN MEXICO CITY

To Elect Provisional President to Take Office for Two Years When Called Returns Dec. 1.

MILITARY LEADERS FLOCK TO CAPITAL

Generals and Governors Expected to Tell Legislators Whom They Want—Five Leading Candidates.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 30.—The new Mexican Congress, elected July 1, convenes tomorrow to choose a provisional President, take office in place of President Calles, and elect a permanent President.

Twenty-two military leaders and 16 Governors also are coming to Mexico City—the greatest mobilization of Generals since November, 1914, when the Generals' Convention met here to make Carranza de facto president.

It is stated that all these generals and governors are coming to confer with Congress, but some of the chiefs among them frankly declare they are not here to saddle the new President with their own pet projects. Calles is determined to retire Dec. 1 at the expiration of a four-year term.

Five names lead all others under consideration for provisional president. There are Gov. Manuel Pardo Trevino of Coahuila, Gov. Faustino of Sonora, Gen. Jose Gonzales Escobar, military commander of Coahuila, Gen. Juan Andres Aleman, military commander of Nuevo Leon, and Gilberto Valenzuela, Mexican Minister to London.

Except for Valenzuela all the prospective candidates are working overtime to line up their following.

The new Congress is regarded as the most significant and powerful which has been assembled in Mexico since 1912. There is a marked disposition among its members to take constitutional prerogatives seriously, and it may be that the provisional president will be named without regard for the generals and governors. There is talk that a civilian may be named. The only name mentioned in this connection is that of Valenzuela.

Whoever is named will assume office Dec. 1 to serve for two years.

STIMSON CREATES A COUNCIL

Governor-General of Philippines Names Advisory Board.

By the Associated Press. MANILA, Aug. 30.—Gen. Stimson today issued an executive order creating a Council of State, "to advise the Governor-General on matters of public policy as he may from time to time lay before it."

The action was a step in a program to effect co-operation between the executive and legislative branches of the insular government.

Coincidental with the order, Gov. Stimson issued a statement saying the council would be "purely an advisory body."

It will possess none of the powers which certain subsequent statutes attempted to impose upon the F. P. Council of State—of taking binding action by vote of its members. It will thus afford no opportunity for one branch of the government to entrench upon or usurp the functions of the other.

Members of the council will include the Governor-General, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House, the majority floor leaders of the House and Senate and the heads of the six executive departments.

SYDNEY EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

20,000 Visitors Have Arrived—Opens Sept. 6.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 30.—Nearly 20,000 visitors are here for the Eucharistic Congress opening Sept. 6. Hotel and boarding house facilities already are at a premium.

Restaurant resources are strained. Besides being broadcast by Australian stations, the speeches delivered during the Congress will be picked up at Lindhurst, Holland, and rebroadcast.

Cardinal Bonaventura Cerretti, papal delegate, was welcomed by a vast crowd when he landed from a steamer today. A great procession was formed which wended its way to the cathedral for the singing of a Te Deum. The papal delegate delivered the following message from the Pope:

"Tell my far distant, but beloved children of Australia, that I shall follow the progress of the Congress day by day and rejoice with them for the glory which will be theirs to the sacred host and to the graces which will be showered upon them with abundance on this blessed land, its sons and its daughters."

NEW CONGRESS MEETS TOMORROW IN MEXICO CITY

MILITARY LEADERS FLOCK TO CAPITAL

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 30.—An attempt to prevent Roy Chapman Andrews from taking out of China the 85 crates of fossils which he brought back from the Gobi Desert has been made by the Chinese Historical Preservation Commission. This body has been joined in its protest by the Peking Political Commission.

The Historical Commission telegraphed to the Nationalist Government at Nanking urging that curators of the character unearthed by the Andrews expedition should remain in China.

The Political Commission, in backing up the historical body, made the claim that Andrews had explored for oil deposits as well as for fossils.

If the protests are upheld at Nanking, the American Museum of Natural History in New York will miss having in its collection fossil remains of what the explorers declare was the largest beast known to science. In describing the finding of this particular remnant of other days, members of the expedition said that they could not bring out all of the relics of the animal because of their size. They plan, therefore, to return to the desert next year. Among other relics left in the clay bed where the great fossil was discovered, was a pelvis bone which was said to be as large as a base-drum.

The expedition personnel now is in Shanghai classifying the material which was transportable and preparing it for shipment to the United States.

RUSSIANS HASTEN TO RENEW HUNT FOR ARCTIC EXPLORERS

Refueled Icebreaker Krassin Returning to Kings Bay; Polar Night Is Near.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Russia, Aug. 30.—With the sun slipping away from the polar seas, the Russian icebreaker Krassin is hastening its return to Kings Bay, so that it may resume the search for lost members of the Noble Arctic expedition and the six missing rescuers under Roald Amundsen. The Krassin has been refueled and has food sufficient for several months.

Secretary Groza of the Soviet Rescue Commission, said that as soon as the vessel reached Kings Bay it would take aboard Aviator Chukhovsky and his plane. The flyer was the first to find the two survivors of the "walking party" of the dirigible Italia.

"The work very soon will all be done in twilight, for the long polar night is near," said Groza. "So is the season of storms. It is likely that the first scouting will be from Seven Islands as a center. If these flights reveal no traces of the missing men, the expedition probably will be transferred to the region of Franz Josef Land."

BORAH SLANDERED CANADA ASSERTS PREMIER OF QUEBEC

Says Senator's Charge of Liquor Corruption in Dominion Should Be Scorned.

By the Associated Press.

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 30.—Declaring that a statement credited to United States Senator Borah on the Canadian liquor situation was "contrary to fact and deserves only to be scorned," Premier Taschereau of Quebec said yesterday he felt "sure that our good United States neighbors will strongly disapprove Senator Borah for slandering a friendly country."

Borah, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, at Boise last week said that the Canadian situation was one where liquor was plentiful, corruption rampant and bootlegging universal.

ROTARY URGED TO RAISE FUNDS FOR AIDING CHILDREN

A plea for funds to provide care for Missouri's crippled children was made by Dr. Frederick A. Jones, chief surgeon of the University of Missouri hospital, before the presidents and secretaries of the Fourteenth District Rotary International, at the convention yesterday in Hotel Statler.

The work of the Missouri State Crippled Children's Service at Columbia will have to be discontinued after Nov. 1, unless additional money is raised. Dr. Jones told the delegates. The average cost of rehabilitation is $300. The $25,000 appropriated by the Legislature has proven insufficient.

KELLOGG IN DUBLIN FOR THREE-DAY VISIT

Crowds Greet Secretary of State at Kingstown and Along Route to Capital.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 30.—All classes in the Irish Free State joined in a hearty welcome which was given to Secretary of State Kellogg when he arrived today for a three-day visit, fresh from the memorable signing at Paris of the Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war pact.

The enthusiasm broke loose the moment that the cruiser Detroit, bearing Kellogg and his party, steamed into Kingstown Harbor. A great crowd which had been gathering on the sea front at Dun Laoghaire for hours cheered the arrival of the cruiser while a salute of 18 guns boomed out.

When the cruiser was first sighted, a small boat containing Vice President Blythe and members of the Cabinet, accompanied by Frederick A. Sterling, American Minister, Mrs. Sterling and Washington Abbott, secretary of the American Legation, sailed out to meet it. The boat brought back Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg and President Cosgrave, who had accompanied them from Paris.

National Anthems Played.

Kellogg and Cosgrave landed to the alternate strains of the national anthems of the United States and the Saorstad, played by an army band within a square formed by the military guard of honor drawn up at the point of disembarkation.

The reception committee included men of all occupations and parties. Capt. Nutting, governor of the Bank of Ireland, and the heads of the Chamber of Commerce represented the business interests while the heads of two universities represented the educational world. The local townships representative presented an address of cordial welcome at the Royal Irish Yacht Club.

A procession of automobiles then formed for the drive to Dublin. The first car contained Kellogg, Sterling and President Cosgrave. The second carried Mrs. Kellogg, Mrs. Sterling and Mrs. Cosgrave, while the third carried Vice President Blythe, Diamond Fitzgerald, Minister of Defense; John Sullivan, Minister of Education; Patrick MacGilligan, Minister of Industry and Commerce; Patrick Hogan, Minister of Agriculture, and Fitzgerald Kennedy, Minister of Justice.

Enrolled as Dublin Freeman.

The seven-mile route to the city was gallily beflagged. The city was reached at the Baginbun Street Bridge where there was a brief halt. Trumpets sounded as a mounted escort clattered up and the procession then continued to the Mansion House for presentation of the freedom of the city to Kellogg. The Secretary signed the roll of Dublin's Freeman and a scroll of citizenship was presented to him in a silver box.

Mrs. Murphy, wife of the chief city commissioner, presented a bouquet to Mrs. Kellogg. The Kellogg party then proceeded to the American Legation in Phoenix Park.

From the entrance of the city, the pace of automobiles to the Mansion House was slow and gave the crowds of spectators an opportunity of seeing the American visitor. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg repeatedly bowed in acknowledgment.

MELLON VETOES FEDERAL RESERVE LOAN PROPOSAL

Declares Against Preferential Discount on Borrowings Secured by U. S. Bonds.

ANSWERS QUERY OF CLEARING HOUSE

Criticizes Idea as Attempt to Put Government Securities Above Commercial and Industrial.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Opposition of the Federal Reserve Board to preferential discount rates by Federal Reserve Banks on loans secured by Government bonds was contained in a reply by Secretary Mellon to an unnamed Clearing House Association made public today by Gov. Young of the board. It was suggested in the bank's letter that loans secured by Government bonds bear the same rate of interest as the bonds.

Noting that the recommendation of the association for a preferential rate had been laid before the board, Mellon said the legal procedure was for directors of the reserve banks to initiate rates.

"When such rates are initiated," he continued, "they are laid before the board for review and determination. While the board undoubtedly has the power to fix rates of discount for reserve banks, we see nothing in the present situation to require such arbitrary action."

Mellon said the board was not attempting "to sidetrack any responsibility it may have for reserve bank discount rates," and added, "we advise your association that, if any reserve bank should initiate such preferential rates as you suggest, the board would be opposed to such procedure."

Cites Six Reasons.

He cited six reasons in support of the board's conclusion, as follows: "It would not care to discriminate against commerce and industry by approving a rediscount rate of as low as 2 1/2 per cent on collateral notes secured by Government obligations, while simultaneously certain reserve banks would be permitted to charge 5 per cent on eligible commercial, agricultural and industrial paper."

"There is nothing in the present situation which would justify a lower rate on one class of Government securities over another. The previous action of the reserve banks that you refer to was a war-time measure only."

His proposal was put into effect at the present time would permit a member bank to put United States bonds in the present market on a yield higher than the bonds bear, and the member bank would be prompted to rediscount to make such purchase solely for profit.

Invitation for Profit.

"Member banks own over four billions of United States Government bonds, and, upon reflection, we believe your clearing house will agree with us that the invitation for profit would be too great for many of the banks to resist and only result in inflation that eventually would work widespread disaster to our entire financial structure and, indirectly, to the business interests of the country."

"The proposed plan would have a strong tendency to appreciate the market value of the outstanding United States obligations bearing low rates and simultaneously depreciate those bearing higher rates, developing artificial and unwarranted prices for the various Government issues."

Under normal peace-time conditions the Treasury Department should and does pay the ordinary market rates for money the same as any other borrowers. Moreover, the credit of the United States Government is so good that there is no occasion whatsoever of attempting by artificial means to place United States Government securities in a favored position as compared with commerce, industry and agriculture."

Chinese of Homan District Resent Government's Raising Temples.

CHENGCHOW, Homan, China, Aug. 30.—Destruction of all idols in the temples as carried out by the authorities has caused much resentment among the residents of this district. Theoretically, under the new regime, there are no idols for public worship anywhere in Homan Province and large numbers have actually been destroyed.

Many of the temples have already been converted into libraries or museums. The walls of these buildings have been covered with posters and pictures issued by the Government propaganda department, some being anti-foreign and other anti-imperialistic.

GOV. SMITH MAY VISIT ST. LOUIS NEXT MONTH

Railroad Arrangements Indicate 11-Day Speaking Trip May Start Sept. 19.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The New York Times says railroad preparations indicate that Gov. Smith will leave by Sept. 19 for an 11-day trip to make seven speeches in as many cities in the inter-mountain states, the Middle West and the Southwest.

The first stop will be at Omaha, Neb., at a date not yet announced. Stops probably will be made at Chicago, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Helena, Mont., Colorado Springs and at some city in Idaho. The candidate also may visit Yellowstone National Park.

On Oct. 1 Smith will be at Rochester, N. Y., to address the State Democratic Committee, and thereafter will start on a Southern tour, preparations for which are in the hands of the Advisory Committee.

In the South it is probable he will appear at Raleigh, N. C., near the end of September, and tentative arrangements have been made for at least one speech in Tennessee, probably at Chattanooga, and one in Kentucky, probably at Louisville.

MARSHAL FAYOLLE BURIED

Body Placed in Crypt Near Tomb of Napoleon.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The body of Marie Emile Fayolle, flag of the great war's six Marshalls to die, today was placed in a crypt at the Cemetery des Invalides where eventually all the great Marshalls will be grouped around the tomb of Napoleon.

Four Marshalls of France, Foch, Petain, Lyautey and Franchet d'Esperey, with gold-starred batons in hand, marched as mourners, followed by Premier Poincare and the Cabinet members, behind the caisson carrying the body.

Marshal Fayolle's orderly led the dead leader's battle charger, the bride down, and 10 non-commissioned officers bore cushions on which were the Marshal's baton, sword and scores of decorations.

Brigadier-General William W. Harris, Military Attache, represented the American Embassy. Joffre was the only Marshal absent. He is ill in health. The procession passed between solid ranks of many thousands of troops. Officers' swords, drummers, bugles and flags were draped in crepe.

PRESIDENT OF POLISH FALCONS IN ST. LOUIS

Count Zamoyski and Daughter Discuss Physical Education of Nation.

Count Adam Zamoyski of Poland and his daughter-in-law, the Countess Jadwiga Zamoyska, who direct the athletic activities of more than 200,000 members of the Polish Falcons of the World, arrived in St. Louis today as guests of the local Polish American Falcons.

The Count and his daughter, neither of whom speaks English with facility, talked to reporters through an interpreter. They will leave St. Louis tomorrow to attend the biennial convention and athletic meet of the Polish American Falcons at Syracuse, N. Y., which begins Saturday.

"To the American child," the Countess said, "physical education takes a more or less natural course. He is born into an enthusiasm for his national games, such as basketball, football and hockey. His physical development is practically assured."

Teaching Constructive Play.

"But Poland has had her freedom as a republic only 10 years. Its people had no time before for mass athletics or large scale games. The Polish Falcons were organized to teach our people, young and old, constructive play. To build sound minds, we must possess sound muscles. That is our slogan—a sound mind in a sound body."

"Our program reaches into every branch of athletics. Our boys and girls throw the discus, put the shot, hold track meets, jump, play football, basketball, baseball and volleyball. Some of these games were introduced into Poland during the war by the Y. M. C. A. and have become exceedingly popular with the younger athletes. The field events, such as the discus throw, javelin hurling and pole vault, however, remain the most popular of Poland's sports."

"As we develop the bodies of our members, we also develop their characters. We show them how to live properly and healthfully and we raise their mental along with their physical standards."

Countess Zamoyski is physical director of the Polish Falcons.

Praises American Physique.

Count Zamoyski has been a leader exponent of physical culture for many years. He has received decorations from several nations. His visit to America follows the completion of his work in Amsterdam, where he supervised the Polish program in the Olympic games.

"The physique of the average American is to be envied," he said. "He is capable, efficient and hardy. What is more he is a sportsman. A fine mind—a good body. Prohibition? No, in Poland, we teach temperance, and when necessary, abstinence. That is part of our character building."

A program for today has been arranged for the Count and Countess. A pulsed reception will be held for them tonight at Polish-American Hall, 1240 Cass avenue.

John Coolidge Ready to Work.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 30.—John Coolidge is ready to enter the ranks of the bread winners next week. Indications, however, point to his entering the employ of one of the big Eastern railroads.

RASKOB DENIES SMITH REJECTED EQUALIZATION FEE

Declares That Democratic Nominee Has Never Made a Statement Either Way on the Plan.

IMPRESSED WITH FARM RELIEF NEED

Chairman Says He Heard Little Talk of Prohibition in Middle West Except in St. Louis.

By the Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 30.—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced here today that Gov. Smith's position on the equalization fee had been misunderstood, contending that the Democratic presidential nominee never had denounced this plan for farm relief.

Raskob said the Governor never has made a statement "either way" regarding the fee and added that the Governor desires a plan to put the farmers on a business basis comparable with that of industry.

"Gov. Smith and all of us agree," he went on, "that to assume that legislation cannot be designed to accomplish this purpose is an insult to American intelligence."

Raskob said that he had been impressed with a "need for farm relief" and that it was "unbelievable" that this condition could exist with so little about it being known in the East.

Just before leaving New York, he added, Herbert H. Lehman, chairman of the Democratic Committee on Finance, requested Raskob to ascertain if there actually was a farm problem. Raskob contended that there has been a "tendency" on the part of some Eastern papers to "blatantly" the farm situation.

"There is no question," he added, "that farm relief in the farm belt is the most important issue."

Questioned by correspondents, he said he had heard "nothing" of prohibition on his trip into the Middle West except for "talk with men around" in St. Louis, who, he added, had predicted that that city would give Smith a majority of 60,000 votes. Raskob will attend a banquet in Columbus, O., tomorrow night.

Gov. Smith Calls for Big Vote in New York State.

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Gov. Smith, discussing campaign organization today in a short speech to members of the Democratic State Committee, declared it is of prime importance to get out the vote on election day. He urged that every effort be made to obtain a heavy registration.

In Syracuse primarily to attend the New York State Fair, the Democratic presidential nominee attended the meeting of the State Committee, called for the purpose of electing M. William Bray of Utica, its chairman, as successor to Lieutenant-Governor Edwin Corning, who has resigned.

The Governor appealed to make an intensive campaign to elect a Democratic Governor and State ticket.

"I am sure the people of New York," the Governor declared, "want the friends and not the enemies of the great state reforms entrusted with the management of state affairs. I don't think they are ready to turn over the reins of government to a party that, for the last 10 years, in this State has stood against popular opinion."

The Bull a Bolter, Too.

A prize Guernsey bull bolted after it had been led past Gov. Smith at the State Fair. The Governor was in no danger, but there was a wild scurrying of the crowd jammed around the nominee, however, as men, women and children cleared a pathway for the beast.

State Senator George Fearon of Syracuse assisted Mrs. Smith to get clear of the animal's path. Mrs. Alfred E. Smith Jr., for an instant, seemed in danger but stepped aside in time.

The bull, which had been taken out to be photographed with Gov. Smith, was quickly brought under control.

Addresses Farm Leaders.

Addressing several hundred officers of New York State farm organizations last night, the Governor confined his talk of half an hour to costs of local government and an appeal for a reorganization of town and county control groups to bring about a reduction of taxes and overhead.

The affair was the annual "farm dinner" given by Jerome H. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse Post-Standard. Gov. Smith spoke after Gov. Gore of West Virginia, Commissioner Lowell of the tariff Commission, who is from New York, and a number of state farm leaders.

Of Making Many Books

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Concerning Value

THE MONEY ILLUSION. By Irving Fisher. (The Adelphi.)

It is often said, and undoubtedly it is true, that there is a pronounced general tendency in our time to attempt a monetary valuation of everything. Even immaterial values are measured by what many are persuaded to accept as a universally applicable yardstick. What this means, obviously, is that such immaterial values are not really regarded as values in themselves at all, and the sole matter considered is how many dollars they will bring.

"Iron men" can be gotten for a few dollars, and the same "iron men" can be sold for a few dollars more. It is a work of art that "pulls out" several thousand dollars must, it seems, be of greater value than one that sells for a few dollars.

This is common sense, which is exactly what is the matter with it. A $75,000 novel must be an excellent thing, for do we not all want $75,000? It is not uncommon to hear of "the cash value of an education." The article is to be sold, and the education, as though it were a thing to be possessed, is a piece of property. The confusion of values involved is equivalent to that of a man who might undertake to measure in feet and inches the distance between breakfast and supper.

All those who have been accustomed to major seers in various lands and countries have evidently tried to tell us by varying means that most of the ills of this world grow out of a misunderstanding and confusion of the values by which men must live. If the seers were right, and they probably were, human progress will have to be conceived not as a quantitative increase in a single field of value, but rather as a qualitative extension of the scale of values that we truly regard as practical, so as to include those values that cannot be bought and sold. It is not the civilized man, but the barbarian, who limits his scale of values to the acquisitive and possessive level. No doubt if the human consciousness were more comprehensive, many "jokers" would appear in even our most enlightened communities, and if all such "jokers" could be apprehended generally by mankind, perhaps we could easily make this earth a paradise. We may be sure that there is a profound meaning in the line, "What fools we mortals are!"

But, happily, it seems we need not await the remote possibilities of a highly developed consciousness in order to nail certain dangerous "jokers" in our everyday economic and social life that are making fools of us even in "practical" matters that we conceive as of supreme importance and are generally supposed to understand. "The Money Illusion" reveals one of these curious "jokers" in no doubtful way. As we have noted, money tends to be regarded, vaguely but effectively, by our acquisitive society in general as a universal measure of value, and we here have a scientific and thoroughly practical man—a man after our own hearts—actually pointing out to us that money is not even a measure for the values it was intended to represent! This ought to prove a healthy shock to our complacency and render us susceptible of our whole conception of value, but perhaps it won't. Since we have all heard much talk of inflation and deflation and the currency, it would be easier to assume that we already understand what Prof. Fisher has to say. That is one serious trouble with us. There is so much talk about everything that we have become familiar with the tags of numerous ideas; and when we encounter a familiar tag, we assume that the idea it represents is familiar too, and therefore need not be examined.

"What would we say," asks Prof. Fisher, "if your yardstick, pound avoirdupois, bushel basket, gallon or kilowatt were to shrink and swell—nearly four-fold—back and forth? Suppose that a railway company were to order railway ties six feet long and that the foot were to quadruple in length before the time they were to be delivered; or suppose that a grain elevator were to buy 1000 bushels of wheat, but the bushel basket meanwhile were to shrink to one-fourth its original size! Our dollar, the measure of value, nevertheless changes as the yardstick might change if it were a rubber band, or as if the pound were made of something that takes up moisture from the air and afterward dries out again." Originally, we are told, a yard was the length of a certain chief's arm, and a "gird" was the length of a "gird." What would we think today," asks Prof. Fisher, "if we were to go back to the 'gird,' determining our yard by the girth of the President of the United States? What would we think if carpet dealers, in terms of a yard so defined, made contracts during Taft's administration and fulfilled them during the present administration?"

It is the purpose of "The Money Illusion" to show that our dollar unit is no less ridiculous in practical application than the "gird," and yet it is the standard by which the welfare of men, women and children is largely determined in this "modern age." He shows us how the real value of a dollar is controlled, not by its weight, but by the changing relation between the volume of commodities and the volume of money; how, owing to the illusion of permanent money value, commodities may seem to be rising or falling when they are substantially stationary; wages may seem to be rising when they are really falling; profits may seem to exist when they are really losses; interest may be believed to be rewarding thrift when no real interest exists; and how this instability of the dollar may produce business depression, bankruptcy, strikes, lockouts, class antagonism, and even legislation, bolshevism.

"The Money Illusion" is not the book of a doctrinaire with values and values to offer for all human ills. It is a clear and convincing discussion of the actual doings of "the drunken dollar," and various means by which the evil may be remedied are considered in detail.

But, happily, it seems we need not await the remote possibilities of a highly developed consciousness in order to nail certain dangerous "jokers" in our everyday economic and social life that are making fools of us even in "practical" matters that we conceive as of supreme importance and are generally supposed to understand. "The Money Illusion" reveals one of these curious "jokers" in no doubtful way. As we have noted, money tends to be regarded, vaguely but effectively, by our acquisitive society in general as a universal measure of value, and we here have a scientific and thoroughly practical man—a man after our own hearts—actually pointing out to us that money is not even a measure for the values it was intended to represent! Day by Day in the West

By O. O. McIntyre

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 30.

THIS is not only one of the most amazing cities in America, but the "freakiest." It attracts the unshod, the unwashed and the unshaven as treacle attracts flies. A benign silver-haired salaried man in a sand-colored suit in Pershing Square this morning.

"Brother," he ventured, "what have you done to make the world happier this glorious day?" I coughed apologetically behind my hand to hide the mounting blush. Frankly, I could think of nothing. He handed me a tract and moved on, wagging his head. Another health cultist, the unwashed and the unshaven as treacle attracts flies. A benign silver-haired salaried man in a sand-colored suit in Pershing Square this morning.

These curious complexities are what make Los Angeles fascinating to me. Its radio blather from health cults, soul experimentalists and Pollyanna psychologists has marked it as the cradle of Babbity—a haven for nuts. And yet in many ways it is more cosmopolitan and worldly than New York.

Without apparent effort, it forges ahead with the certainty of a sure-footed mountain goat. It remains away a year and you return to find almost another city. It sprawls over an area larger than that of London—an area constantly tearing down and building up.

No stranger can visit Los Angeles without warning to its hospitality. It has learned the value of the friendly overture more than any other city perhaps on the face of the globe. And those who have the idea Los Angeles, like Topsy, "just grewed," are sadly mistaken.

No other city has faced more obstacles or overcome them. In the beginning the sole asset was its ecstasy of sunshine—valuable no doubt, but thousands of spots in America with wonderful climates remain dreary and desolate waste places. The faith of Los Angeles in its destiny is boundless. And this optimism is contagious. I know dozens of cynical Broadwayites, whose hearts stretched between Columbus Circle and Herald Square, transplanted here by the movies. A year and they are wide-eyed and rampant "boosters."

ALMISTIS, table tippers, phrenologists, clairvoyants and sundry physical and spiritual rejuvenators swarm here. It is a paradise

Public School Piano Lessons. By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Every pupil in the public schools will be given an opportunity to learn to play the for quick religionists and quack medical practitioners. On the beautiful boulevards will be seen rose-hanging arbors leading up to picturesque cottages of crystal gazers, card reading and coffee-ground fortune tellers and other seers. On their well-kept lawns are signs with "Don't Worry" slogans traced in Neon lights. And I am told they do a land office business.

RECORDING all this is not a gesture to laugh at Los Angeles. Far from it. To me it is a shibboleth of tolerance—the sort of tolerance that has given Paris Constantinople and Vienna their color and made them among the most interesting cities in the world. It is merely a "side show" and has nothing to do with fundamental civic and commercial virtues responsible for the city's astounding growth. Even the Los Angeles smiles at the array of fakery—just as the New Yorker smiles at its flea circus, wax museums, cheap Coney Island thrills and sucker night clubs.

THE ice cream wagon reaches the apotheosis of grandeur here. Last evening on Wilshire boulevard—the Fifth avenue of the West—was a cream-colored wagon drawn by two milk-colored cobbles and on either side of the wagon the name of the product was traced in delicate orange lights. The driver wore a white velvet suit and cap and was as black as the ace of spades—thus creating the effect of a stick of licorice in a bowl of ice cream.

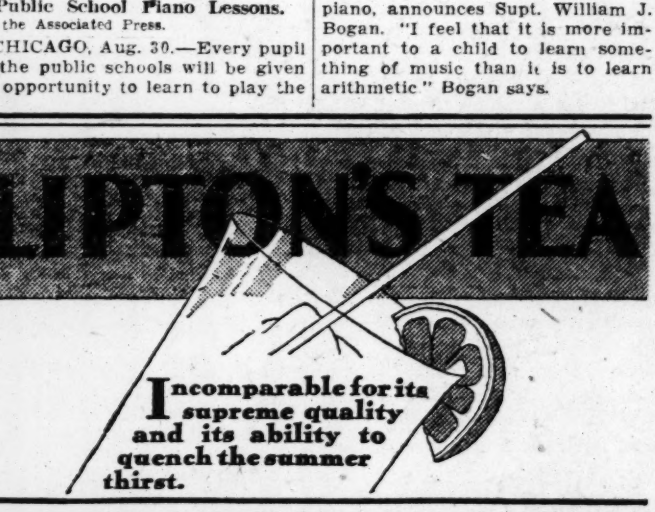

LOS ANGELES gives its visitors innumerable souvenirs. It almost requires a basket for an ordinary walk. This morning a lady approached with a bundle while I backed away coyly and gently disappearing at her. It developed she merely wanted her baby held while she tied her shoe.

WOMAN WHO LED INSURANCE SALES ANNOUNCES MARRIAGE

Mrs. Frances Burkhardt Wed on Aug. 6 to Frank A. Thompson of New York.

Mrs. Frances Burkhardt, a saleswoman for the Central States Life Insurance Co., announced her marriage to Frank A. Thompson of New York on Aug. 6, at a meeting yesterday of the Life Insurance Club, an organization limited to members selling more than $150,000 worth of insurance annually. Her announcement came after she had been elected president of the club and had been awarded a silver loving cup for selling $750,000 worth of insurance last year and leading her associates.

The romance began last January, when Thompson came here to conduct a campaign for funds for the new City College of Law and Finance. An insurance venture brought the pair together. They were married Aug. 6 at Farmington, Mo. Mrs. Thompson lives with her two sons at 5707 McPherson avenue. One son is a recent graduate of the Washington University law school and the other is a student there.

Yesterday's meeting was the first in a three-day convention of the club. About 75 members from out-of-town were present.

RESTRAINING ORDER AGAINST LOAN FIRM

Forbids Collection of $27.50 Judgment From Borrower, Who Seeks Damages.

A temporary restraining order which forbids the Service Purchasing Co. in the Holland Building from collecting a judgment of $27.50 obtained in justice of the Peace Court against Charles W. Bierdeman, Missouri Pacific Railroad clerk, was issued today by Circuit Judge Hamilton with the filing of a $6000 damage suit against the loan company by Bierdeman. A hearing is set for Tuesday.

Bierdeman alleges he borrowed $20 from the Service Purchasing Co. early in 1927 and agreed to pay interest at the rate of about 5 per cent a week. He had paid more than $75 in interest on the loan when in June, 1928, the company sued in Justice Harry C. Meyers' court and obtained the judgment without his knowledge, he maintains.

Bierdeman asks that the company be permanently restrained from collecting the judgment either from himself or his employers, and also asks $1000 actual and $5000 punitive damages alleging the collection suit was filed maliciously.

The Better Business Bureau, which is conducting a campaign against so-called "loan sharks" and "salary buyers," while not assisting in the suit, is watching it with interest inasmuch as it is the first of its kind to be filed here.

COMMISSION ROW OBJECTS TO LAYING OF CAR TRACKS

Injunction Suit Says Ordinance Violates Previous Declaration of City.

Injunction suits were filed today by 14 property owners on Commission Row, which occupies Third and Fourth streets from Franklin avenue to O'Fallon street, to prevent the St. Louis Public Service Co. from laying street car tracks for a loop on Third and Fourth streets at Franklin avenue. The property owners, who filed their suits in the name of the Commission Row Protective Association, allege that the triangular section of land where the tracks are to be laid, was obtained by the city through condemnation proceedings in 1924, and that the city had indicated at that time the intention of creating a park.

The injunction suits, filed against the city, the Board of Public Service and the Public Service Co., allege that the ordinance which granted the street car company the right to lay tracks is invalid because of the previous declarations of the city at the time the property was condemned. Circuit Judge Hamilton granted a temporary restraining order, returnable Saturday morning.

MRS. HELEN A. DOZIER, 88, DIES AT GRAND HAVEN, MICH.

Funeral Services Will Be Held Tomorrow From Residence of Daughters Here.

CURTIS SAYS DEMOCRATS PLAN TO REDUCE TARIFF

In Speech to Grange Compares Grain Imports Under Low and High Duties.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—The Democratic tariff policy, particularly as related to agriculture, was attacked by Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, in a speech here today before members of the National Grange.

He declared that if the Democrats were returned to power nothing could be expected from them "but an immediate low revision of the tariff" and said many Democratic leaders had already committed themselves to such a policy.

"In the 11 months ending August, 1921, when wheat was on the free list," the Senator said, "Canada sold $39,475,000 worth of wheat to the United States. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, Canada sold us wheat to the amount of $19,801,447, about $80,000,000 less of foreign wheat to compete with farmers of the United States. For the 11 months ending August, 1921, when flour was on the free list, Canada sold to the United States wheat flour valued at more than $12,000,000, while in the last year the wheat flour imported was about $500,000.

"If one reads the Houston tariff plank carefully, it is easy to see that instead of being something new, something evolutionary, something a step forward in the direction of a protective tariff policy, it is practically word for word the 1924 plank. In other words, the Houston platform declares for a tariff similar to the Underwood tariff."

Youthful Pep Comes Back in Middle Age

Hundreds Now Regaining Lost Vigor and Energy

Marvelous tonic guaranteed to bring results in 12 days

Why let old age come on before its time? There's no reason why middle-aged people can't be as active, energetic and full of pep as young folks.

Hundreds have already learned the way to win back their youthful pep, the tireless energy and endless strength in which they once abounded.

A fine old prescription, known as Phospho-Cod, does the trick. Its success has been so astonishing that Walgreen Drug Stores guarantee it absolutely. They make you this offer: If in twelve days, Phospho-Cod doesn't double your pep and energy, they will refund you your money.

Phospho-Cod brings you the pep, stamina, health-building benefits of cod livers. Together with purifying extracts and hypophosphites which help throw off the poisons that weaken the system. And it's a pleasure to take it, for it has a flavor like rare old wine.

Don't be satisfied another day without your full share of pep and energy. Get Phospho-Cod, and let it bring you back to that condition of body and mind which makes you equal to any task, however big. Win back the strength and vigor which enable you to finish the day strong, with plenty left for the pleasure in life. Phospho-Cod is priced well within the means of everybody, and is on sale at all

TWO CONFESS NINE HOLDUPS IN COUNTY

Paroled Convict and Negro Companion Identified by Eight Victims.

Thomas Clark, 35 years old, alias Theodore McGee, a paroled convict, and his Negro companion, John Butler, 25, who were arrested Monday morning after Clark's straw hat was shot off by a policeman, have admitted, according to Maplewood police, that they committed nine roadside holdups in St. Louis County last week.

The victims in eight of the holdups identified the pair yesterday after they had admitted the robberies. Clark, who resided at a hotel at Eighteenth street and Washington avenue, is said to have boasted that he has $5000 in a St. Louis bank. Police will endeavor to learn how he acquired the money. Small sums were taken in seven of the nine holdups to which Clark and Butler confessed. In the other two robberies they obtained about $100 and an automobile from each victim. The machines later were recovered.

Butler was arrested at 2 a. m. Monday as he walked past the Maplewood Police Station. Clark fled as policemen shot at him, one bullet knocking off his hat. He was arrested a short time later on a Manchester street car by a private watchman summoned by the car crew, who had been asked to watch for a hatless man. As E. M. Burton, the watchman, approached him Clark threw an automatic pistol out the window. The weapon was recovered.

Warrants charging Clark and Butler with first degree robbery will be applied for today. Clark was paroled from the Michigan State prison after serving nine months of a two-year sentence for obtaining money under false pretense, police learned.

MELLUS MURDER DEFENSE PUSHES NEW DEATH THEORIES

Attempts to Establish That Alcoholism or Injury in Fall Might Have Been Cause.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 30.—An attempt to establish that the death of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, wealthy society woman, resulted from alcoholism or a bruise on the head received in a fall, was planned today by defense counsel in the trial of Leo P. Kelley, charged with her murder. The defense alleged that Mrs. Mellus and Kelley drank considerably the day of her death.

Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, who took the stand yesterday after Frank Mellus, the woman's husband, had testified, said on cross-examination that a bruise on the head would have caused death.

Kelley winced and often fought for self-control when Mellus, at times near collapse, told of finding his wife's body on his return from a fishing trip. The young meat-cutter, however, still was able to smile for news photographers at the end of the day's ordeal. Mellus was almost overcome by the sight of a photograph of his wife's mutilated body. His face covered by his hands, he hesitated several minutes before he identified it.

NEW YORK BUSINESS REPORT Wholesale Trade Last Month Equal to July, 1927.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Sales of reporting wholesale dealers in the New York district during July were about equal to those of July, 1927, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York says in its monthly review. Sales of women's coats and suits and of men's clothing showed seasonal increases. Another gain of 50 per cent was reported in machine tool sales and smaller increases were shown in sales of stationery, shoes, diamonds, paper, drugs and groceries. Sales of silk goods, jewelry and hardware declined.

Total sales of reporting department stores were about 4 per cent larger in July than in July, 1927, due chiefly to increased business done by apparel stores and a gain of more than 20 per cent by mail order houses. Musical instruments and radio sets, shoes, toys and sporting goods made the largest gains. Reports of chain stores indicate increases only in grocery stores. Declines in sales per store in other types ranged from 2 1/2 per cent in drug chains to nearly 16 per cent in candy stores.

BATTLE OF RHODE ISLAND 150th Anniversary of Revolutionary War Engagement Celebrated.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 30.—Officials of State, city and nation and thousands of citizens participated yesterday in the 150th anniversary of the battle of Rhode Island in the Revolutionary war.

Opening with brief morning exercises at the old Revolutionary Art Works known as Fort Barton in Tiverton, the celebration continued all day, shifting at noon to Butts' Hill in Portsmouth, then to Newport, where a military parade was held in the afternoon, and ending at Newport Beach with a banquet.

Canadian Flyer Crashes to Death. MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 30.—Capt. Harold F. Nason of St. John, N. B., flying instructor of the Granby (Que.) Aero Club, died last night of injuries suffered a few hours earlier when he crashed at the airdrome while flying one of the club's Moth planes.

Meditations —OF A— Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

WE ALL LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES

We all live in glass houses, these frank, bright, open-faced days. Nothing is concealed—from our emotions to our bridge work. There isn't a good whole family skeleton to be found in an entire community of houses. And if there were we should probably dangle it as a radiator cap on the front of our automobiles.

A man displays his Adam's apple as openly and defiantly about his low soft collar as a girl displays her knees beneath her high-water skirts.

We discuss our soul secrets, our sentiments, our reactions, our complexes and even our HUSBANDS and our domestic fights with everybody.

We naively carry our schoolgirl complexions around with us in little gold cases and perform the most intimate details of our toilettes—powder our noses, touch up our lips and renovate our blouses—in the street, the theater, or the church—wherever we happen to be.

We are so frank and open that we even discuss our sins and brag of our little escapades. We just LOVE to tell each other about our face-lifts, our favorite beauty creams and how we make our figures "what they ain't," by diet and reducing exercises.

As for SEX, it is no longer a mystery or a personal affair, but our favorite topic of dinner-table conversation, and night afternoon-tea chatter.

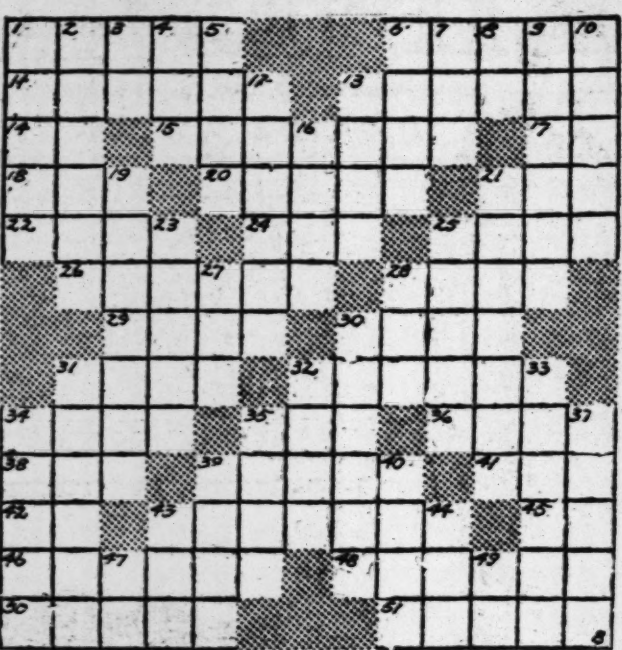

We not only live in glass houses, but we never pull down the shades! We don't even try to cover up our impulses or to hide our tempers under a camouflage of good manners.

All this unblushing candor has undoubtedly made life lots simpler and more comfortable, but it has robbed it of most of its picturesque quality.

Diplomacy, coquetry and the beautiful art of flirtation are as archaic today as Queen Anne furniture and hoopskirts. There are no more hours devoted to the love-feast any more. We just plunk right in! Love-making is no longer a fencing match, but a wrestling match!

A man no longer gets a kick out

But by that same token, girls no longer suffer from acute self-con-

Beauty Shop

By Frances Olivier.

SEEING GREEN.
DID you know that a field of green grass is literally a tonic to the eyes? That feeling of delicious relaxation which flows over you after you walk or ride past emerald fields and somber green hills is the result of something more tangible than imagination.

And so the desk worker, the player of the needle, everyone who earns bread by the strain of the eyes, rather than the sweat of the brow, we advise most heartily, frequent trips to the country, at least to the parks, now that summer is here and filled with green growing things.

Pessimistic as it may sound to the lover of sea bathing, it must be remarked that the combination of dazzling sun and sand and sea are rather hard on the organs of sight. Sun glasses and brimmed hats reduce the possibility of damage to the eyes, naturally, but for those wise enough to demand complete benefit from their hours of play the Beauty Shop recommends country gazing in addition to sea bathing. All of which is quite possible, what with every strand having a background of meadows at least, if not hills and dales and mountains.

To get the most out of this tonic bath of green, go out in the early morning or at the close of the day, or into the shadowy woods, and just sit quietly and look. There is no point, of course, in staring at hills or fields under bright sunlight, since the sun puts an even greater strain on the eyes than the "job" back home.

And while engaged in the pleasant pastime of green gazing, remember to change the focus of the eyes now and then. Staring won't do. The eyes should rather lapse about, traveling from one green spot to the next, leaping from a patch of grass close at hand to a hill of green in the distance.

If you are able to give your eyes this "treatment" daily, so "very much the better" for both you and for them. At the luncheon hour spend 15 or 20 minutes sitting or strolling in the park. At the end of the day, increase the dose of this very excellent eye medicine. For people with NERVES, it is a veritable boon.

Then to give the treatment the necessary touch of variety, try blinking at the scenery. Blinking is in itself excellent for resting and strengthening the eyes and putting sparkle into them, but blinking in an atmosphere of green is doubly beneficial.

You may possibly feel, kind read-

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

ENOUGH OF GREEN FOREST.

Those who've had enough and know it
Should never hesitate to show it.
—Old Mother Nature.

PETER RABBIT was thoroughly miserable. Indeed he was. It always makes one miserable to suffer fright. Peter had had a terrible fright and was still frightened. Then, too, he was sore. He was sore all over. You see he had been pounced on by one of the children of Towler the Bobcat and he had been badly scratched. Those scratches smarted. Now he was safe in a bramble-tangle, but still frightened and of course most thoroughly uncomfortable. It was there that his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, discovered him.

"Hello, Peter!" exclaimed Jumper. "For goodness' sake, what have you been doing to your coat?"

"Nothing," replied Peter in a small voice. "I didn't do it, some-body else did it."

"Who?" demanded Jumper, staring very hard at Peter.

Peter looked a bit crestfallen. He dearly loves to tell news and he thought perhaps he was telling Jumper something the latter didn't know. "I didn't know it until tonight," said Peter.

Suddenly Jumper understood. "You know it now," he chuckled. "Don't tell me you have been trying to play with those kittens!"

"Of course not!" replied Peter indignantly. "One of them jumped on me without any warning. I didn't suppose any one had so many claws. My coat is torn and I'm scratched all over. It's a wonder I am here to tell you about it."

"You haven't told me about it yet," said Jumper. "What happened?"

Then Peter told as best he could what had happened. He told how he had watched one of the Towler's kittens playing in the moonlight and how without any warning another kitten had jumped on him.

"It serves you right," said Jumper. "Yes sir, it serves you right. Any one who will forget to watch out when he knows there are Bobcats around deserves to get caught."

"It serves you right," said Jumper.

"But I didn't know there were any other cats around," said Peter. "You should have known," retorted Jumper. "If you had done any thinking at all you would have known that one little Bobcat kitten wasn't likely to be all alone. It is lucky for you Peter Rabbit that it wasn't Mrs. Towler or Yowler who jumped on you instead of the other kitten. It was bad enough when there was only Yowler himself living over there. But now that Mrs. Yowler and two kittens are in the Green Forest we all of us have to watch out twice as sharply as we ever did before."

"They won't get me," said Peter most decidedly. "They won't get me, because I'm going straight home to the dear Old Briar-patch and stay there. I've had enough of the Green Forest. Yes, sir, I've had enough of the Green Forest. This is no place for me. Oh, dear, I wish I were in the dear Old Briar-patch this very minute! I do so!"

CHILD'S PLAN IN MODERN WORLD

ONE of the first things a young teacher should realize is the plan of the child in the modern world, says Miss Louise McCormick, first honor graduate of the State Teachers' College at Fairville.

"The child is an individual member of society and must be treated as such," Miss McCormick declares. "The twentieth century has brought along with all its other wonderful discoveries, the discovery of the child and the rights of childhood. The child is not to be humiliated by the excuse that he is too young. His questions must be answered and his curiosity satisfied in a wholesome way and the teacher must be in a position to answer him simply and truthfully. Then, too, youth has its own valuable contribution to make. Children are our future poets, painters, sculptors and builders. The child must be free to express himself naturally. The duty of the teacher is to create a suitable stimulating environment and surround the child with materials which will create within him a desire to learn. "The teacher must also guide and control children according to their differing natures. This requires tact and resourcefulness. Above all, before a teacher can understand them, she must love children."

There was the absence of formal ceremony which made the Prince's party so delightful. For although the French king received the Earl of Chester (the Prince of Wales) with enthusiasm, there was no display of pomp and circumstance.

The French people voted the young Prince as charmingly normal as his grandfather, and were delighted by the comely dignity of his grandson.

FROM the club veranda the grass of the fairway looks green and bright in the sun... from a near-by tee comes the sharp click of a well-stoked drive... you stretch out with that pleasant, tired languor of a game well-played... and as the talk runs easily on this or that you sip from a tall glass of "Canada Dry." Life is good.

Distinction like that of some rare wine
Life is good when it includes such a beverage as this fine old ginger ale. Made with the lore of three generations of vintners, it has a distinctive quality like the bouquet of some rare wine. "What a beautiful drink!" the connoisseur exclaims as he sips from its crystal depths. And it is a beautiful drink. "Canada Dry" has "balance" which comes from blending the finest quality of Jamaica ginger and other absolutely pure ingredients in an exact proportion. Constant watchfulness is maintained always, to prevent any variation from the set standard. Hourly tests under laboratory methods are made to insure purity. By a secret method of carbonation, "Canada Dry" retains its sparkle long after the bottle is opened.

"Canada Dry" has no unpleasant after-effects

Capsicum (red pepper) makes ginger ale bite. But "Canada

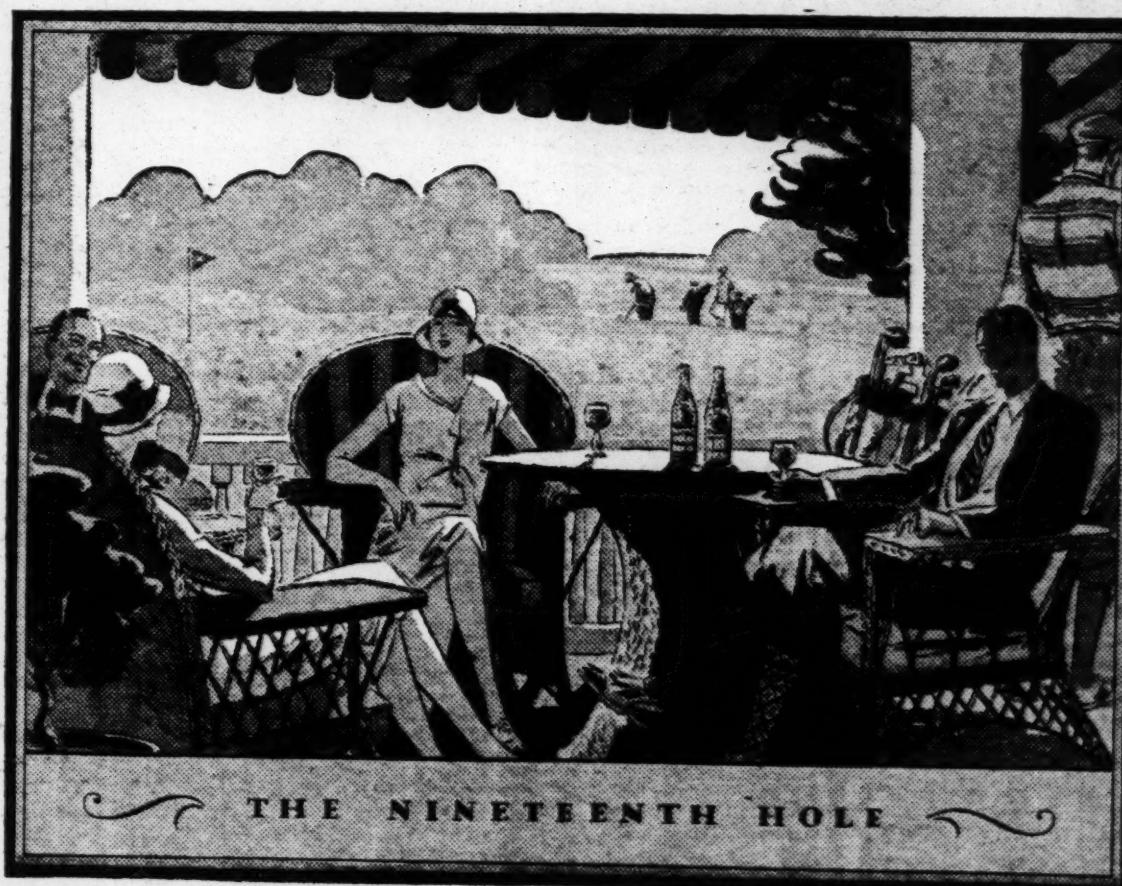

Dry" hasn't any bite, because it hasn't any capsicum in it. The subtle, gingery taste of "Canada Dry" means real goodness for you. That is why leading medical authorities recommend it and why many leading hospitals serve it.

Always order "Canada Dry"—in hotels, restaurants, on the train, at your club. Serve it at home, too. Drink it and know that here is a fine ginger ale.

REFRIGERATION

U. S. PUBLIC HEALTH

The intimate relationship between health and food has aroused widespread interest in recent years.

Much attention has been devoted to the constituents of various kinds of food, with particular stress on the importance of the different vitamins they contain and on comparisons and estimates of the number of calories each can produce in the daily diet.

This situation may be ascribed in large part to the importance of the body-building and heat-producing elements and partly, perhaps, to the increasing complexity of the problems involved. The commonplaces question of food preservation and refrigeration, long engaging the attention of a number of investigators, in the service of Public Health Service, appears to have aroused interest less general and scientific than it merits.

The refrigeration problem, they are especially emphasized in connection with the importance of keeping raw food against bacterial heat. This is particularly true of milk and other dairy products, and fish, which should be

Return of "Sparkling" Evening Gowns Forecast

Grey fox collars are all the vogue this season, as illustrated in this coat of soft pastel-blue wool made to fit the bodice.

This coat is for either afternoon or evening wear. Bracelet-tight beige fox cuffs shading the hands are a special feature. The collar is made to match.

Stripes are very popular. This sleeveless white satin dress has a yellow, black and white striped collar and a loosely draped belt.

The stripes used as a trimming only on the long green scarf and on the pocket of the jumper. Note the finely pleated skirt and plain jumper.

Plain pastel-blue crepe de chine is used for this frock. The skirt is shaped and the sleeves fit tight. A long scarf goes through two buttonholes on side of bodice.

By Mme. Jeanne Lanvin.

Mme. Jeanne Lanvin, Paris Fashion Expert, Believes Simplicity Will Continue to Prevail for Daytime Costumes—The Problem of Jewels and Ornaments.

UNTIL the present time there has been a sharp line of demarcation between the characteristics of Paris fashions before and since the war. Before the war the soul of fashion was individuality and variety. After it we remained for several years in a morass of monotonous uniformity.

Then came the wave of masculinity with its match-stick silhouette, and women seemed to have lost all sense of the beauty of their own natural line. Emancipation was their own ambition. It was as if cubism had got into their blood and made them shrink from curves.

Now, happily, the charm of the natural figure is once more appreciated. Women look feminine, and the effect is a pleasing one. Also it is much easier to dress them becomingly than when their only idea was to look as attenuated as possible.

Dressmakers are always expected to talk about the future—what they intend to make next season. Now I will tell you a secret. We do not really know until our collections are completed. In all creative work inspiration comes in the service of creation. Dressmakers do not think out a definite program and work according to rule. They often start with one idea and in the course of developing it arrive at results totally different from those they set out to achieve. This is why definite forecasts have very little value.

One thing is certain. There will be great variety in next season's mode. For the morning there will be simple ensembles with a sports tendency made to show the true lines of the figure, but with sufficient fullness to allow the freedom of movement the modern woman demands.

While simplicity prevails in the daytime, there is every scope for individuality and originality in evening dress. But here again I do not believe in any very definite period influence. Just at the present time there are great many costume period balls being given in Paris. I am busy designing numbers of gowns for these to be worn by some of my smartest and most individual clients. Some of these ladies may, being pleased with their appearance in period gowns, decide to have this influence shown in one or two of the evening gowns they order for the autumn season. But I do not anticipate that the influence will be general.

Fashion experts are concerned with the question of whether the sparkling evening gown will live into its own again after a season of chiffons, tulle and satin. Frankly, I think it will. Of course, there will always be a certain number of women who, because of their individual taste or type of beauty, will prefer to wear gowns of the greatest simplicity. But there are others who feel that they have more brilliance in a sparkling gown, and there are many occasions in the winter when a gown with acquired or brilliant embroidery is more effective than any other.

In such a matter as the choice of sparkling gowns or those made of plain material, it must be remembered that there are no arbitrary rules of fashion. The whole character of the present day dress is its variety. One cannot say definitely that it is smart to wear a gown of one kind and not smart to wear another kind. That is just what we are trying to get away from. A woman who does not dress habitually in the grandes hautes de couture may have some clever inspiration for a gown for some occasion when she wishes to look more her best than ever. This may happen even if she is not usually a very smart woman. Nothing inspires more than having a special reason for wishing to look lovely. Her dress may result in a new detail or in a rage for either plain or sparkling frocks, for when women see one woman looking charming in something a little different from what they themselves are wearing they immediately want the same thing, and usually order it—either fortunately or unfortunately.

It cannot be repeated too often that it is no use to order a dress just because it happens to suit Mrs. So-and-So. The only thing that matters is that it should suit the woman by whom it is worn. It is better to be dressed becomingly than to be dressed in the very height of fashion. Perhaps the very latest creations are not just what you yourself require. In that case wait a few weeks before ordering your wardrobe, and you may be sure the dressmakers will have created modifications of that very mode which will be perfectly suited to your figure, style and type. Remember that half the people who see you know very little about fashion at all. But everybody knows, though they could not tell you why, when you are looking particularly nice. And that result is achieved when you have studied the dress you wear with a view to just how it looks on yourself alone.

Of course, I advise everybody to keep in line with the fashions of the moment. It is not in good taste to be too much ahead of fashion, and it is foolish to be behind. What you should aim at is to be dressed in just the style of the hour, neither in advance nor following on behind. That is the secret of real smartness.

One of the refinements of modern dress is the fashion for jewels that are specially designed to wear with the gown they accompany. This is a pretty fancy of which I approve. You have seen delightful necklaces, bracelets and buckles of turquoises which I have had made for me. These, being designed by the jeweler in collaboration with me, are just what is most suitable to show off these particular models. I am convinced there is a great future, for jewels that are made to suit special gowns, and it is a fashion that is adopted by some of my smartest clients.

The ensemble is a most important part of the winter wardrobe. The coat to match the dress, or designed to wear with one or two dresses of harmonizing shades is infinitely smarter than the hat that is bought alone and then worn over any dress you may think of wearing.

Of course, the ideal fashion is to have evening wraps for each evening gown, but this is a refinement that is beyond the budget of a great many well-dressed women. So I only mention it as a counsel of perfection. The main essential is to have one or two evening wraps that harmonize with the different gowns with which they are worn.

Always bear in mind the fact that your accessories form part of one harmonious whole and should not attract attention to themselves. The well-dressed ensemble is one that forms a complete picture with hat, shoes, bag and jewels all in keeping. Details that starve are in bad taste and should be avoided. (Copyright, 1928.)

A DISH FOR TODAY

Eggs Baked With Bacon Sauce.

Eight long slices bacon, three large or six medium green peppers, bacon fat, six eggs, salt. Cut bacon in narrow strips and cook in frying pan until almost done. Cut large peppers in halves, lengthwise, or remove tops from medium-sized peppers. Remove seeds, cook five minutes in boiling water, drain, brush inside and out with bacon fat and place in baking dish. It is advisable to have pieces of toast, from which the centers have been removed, in the baking dish to hold the peppers upright. Break an egg in each pepper, sprinkle with salt and with one teaspoon bacon fat. Cover eggs with the cooked bacon and bake until egg-whites are set. Serve in the same dish surrounded with bacon sauce.

Hot vinegar will remove paint from glass.

Germany Conquered By U. S. Ice Cream

ICE CREAM has become as popular in Germany as it is in the United States. The unwanted heat of this summer has done what years of propaganda could not achieve before this.

The ice cream industry used a clever slogan to put over the campaign this time. Ice cream was advertised as "cold kisses." At a time when even in the Tiergarten, the historic rendezvous of amorous young men and girls, kisses were scarce, since even their giving and taking seemed too great an exertion, the "cold kiss" conquered Germany.

"American" ice cream parlors sprang up like mushrooms. "American" ice cream carts now dot the busy streets of German cities. Sales increased 40 and 50 fold, ice cream manufacturers declared.

REFRIGERATION IS HEALTH NEED

U. S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

Intimate relationship between health and food has aroused widespread interest in recent years. Much attention has been devoted to the constituents of various kinds of food, with particular stress on the importance of the different vitamins they contain and on the estimates of the number of calories each can produce in the daily diet.

That situation may be ascribed largely to the importance of body-building and heat-producing elements and partly, perhaps, to the interesting complexity of the problems involved. The commonplace question of food preservation and refrigeration, long engaging the attention of a number of investigators, in the opinion of Public Health Service experts, appears to have aroused relatively less general and scientific interest than it merits.

The refrigeration problem, they are especially emphasized in connection with the importance of preserving all the food against untimely spoilage. This is particularly true of milk and other dairy products, and of fish, which should be ways be kept at a low temperature until cooked.

During very hot weather, health investigators have learned, many cases of intestinal disorder among infants, children and, to a lesser extent, adults can be traced either to improper or unwise habits of eating or to failure to keep food products properly cool and covered. Many persons, they have found, fail to realize that if meat, fish and milk are not placed in a refrigerator until several hours after they are purchased, their qualities are likely to be greatly impaired. Even when that error is avoided considerable spoilage results from failure to return unused portions of the foods to the refrigerator as quickly as possible after removing them in the course of preparing a meal.

All foods, the health authorities explain, contain bacteria, which, if allowed to become numerous, will cause fermentation in the stomach and intestines, resulting in various kinds of illness. The digestive juices of the organs involved are adequate, however, to overcome their harmful activity if their multiplication is retarded and held within reasonable limits by refrigeration.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton.

OUR CHILDREN'S RIGHTS. We all agree that home is the dearest place on earth to most of us, yet, it is frequently the scene of a hateful prison to children dominated by parents. It is an art to rear children and if not inborn it should be cultivated. Appropriating children are never really happy themselves or attractive to others. There are certain rules in home that must be followed for cooperative comfort and safety of all concerned. But there is a far longer list of rules that make for children's freedom and happiness which develops them along the right lines.

As soon as the thinking age sets in, children should be taught to think for themselves, taught to decide points promptly that arise without running to ask what to do. Then if the foundation training has been right they should understand that they must stand or fall by their decisions. It will astonish the old-fashioned parents to know how quickly children raised in this way will make sure and perfect judgments. We cannot push children from the nest like fledglings, but we can train them to use their mental wings.

Parents should never answer questions with "I don't know," or equivocate, for children want direct answers and the truth even if it hurts. Youth takes matters as a whole and digests them according to its own mentality. Piece-meal information is never satisfactory. Companionable authority that says why things are so gets a natural obedience that is a strong bond between the parent and child. An over-bearing blind insistence is never effectual.

Children are entitled to a certain amount of freedom in all ordinary matters. The same correspondence should be treated with respect and they are, or should be, to enjoy it without being obliged to share it. They probably will not be forced to do so unreasonably. Children made to wear monkey suits for the sake of mignonette that are out of the mode are noticeably that it makes them feel badly, and causes comment at school, suffer from the parent's mistake. It is wrong and unnecessary, for alterations ought to be made or the garment up to date, or else it should be discarded at a loss. There is no petty economy worth the infliction of embarrassment or sorrow laid on children just because we have the money. This is a modern and critical age and it makes youth rebellious.

If we are close friends of our children we have twice as much chance to help them select friends that are desirable. Invite the

ROBINSON LAYS FAILURE OF FARM AID TO HOOVER

"More Directly Responsible for Lack of Legislation in Last 8 Years Than Any Other Political Chief."

DENIES SMITH IS NULLIFICATIONIST

Condemns G. O. P. Corruption and Says Adequate Merchant Marine Is Essential to Nation's Safety.

By the Associated Press.
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 31.—Formerly notified of his selection by the Democratic party as its vice presidential candidate, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas today turned his attention toward the campaign. He shortly will begin a speaking tour that will carry him through Southern territory. Official word of his notification was conveyed to him by Claude G. Bowers of New York. Hardly had Bowers finished when the Senator was on his feet, issuing a challenge to his political foes. Farm relief, prohibition, merchant marine and political corruption—these are the issues, he said, upon which the Democratic party must fight out the campaign. And of the four, he cited the farm problem as the outstanding one. Attacks Record of G. O. P. The Senator reviewed the eight years' record of Republicanism in Washington and then of that party's new chiefs of state. "Mr. Hoover, as the President's trusted adviser, is perhaps more directly responsible for the failure of farm relief legislation during the eight years referred to than any other single political leader. His present position on legislation for agricultural relief marks no material advance. In his speech of acceptance it is asserted 'the most urgent economic problem in our nation today is agriculture. Differences of opinion as to both causes and remedies have retarded the completion of a constructive program of relief.' This language expressly recognizes the persistence of the problem and what is more significant the failure of his party in relief. Economic Adventure Justified. Then the Senator added that although the equalization fee principle was not expressly approved, the Democratic platform did recognize the "principle of distributing the cost of operations with the respect to surplus crops over the market with whose products are benefited thereby," and that the time had come "when an economic adventure is justified in behalf of the millions of farmers throughout the nation." The facts prove also that the Republican party," he continued, "is either incapable of successfully dealing with the question or has deliberately violated its express promise to the farmers of the nation. "It would seem that eight years have afforded ample time for action and that a political organization which has had every opportunity which the years could bring to obtain beneficial results should now be heard to ask for a renewal of its lease on power merely to repeat the old promises which have been so often broken." He passed from farm relief to prohibition. Discusses Prohibition. "There has always been room in the Democratic party," he said, "for those who differ as to the best means of promoting temperance and of suppressing the traffic in alcoholic beverages. "The convention recognized that the Democratic party is neither a prohibition nor an anti-prohibition organization, but it entrusted with its duty would be enforce all laws. Applause interrupted him when he quoted from Gov. Smith's telegram to the Houston convention and again a few seconds later when he declared: "Can it be said that Governor Gov. Smith contends that, without returning to the old evils of the nation, temperance and respect for law can be promoted through changes in the existing system. He is a nullificationist and an enemy of the Constitution? Such arguments impede the intelligence of their authors." He added that President Wilson had vetoed the Volstead act, but that the integrity of his purpose was not questioned and his good faith generally conceded. (The complete statement of Senator Robinson on prohibition printed elsewhere in today's issue of the Post-Dispatch.)
